Korea Armistice Parley Deadlocked On Supervision Issue

MUNSAN, Nov. 29—Allied and Communist truce negotiators remained at loggerheads today over supervision of the proposed armistice in Korea and the Allies accused the Reds of "mixing up a peace treaty with an armistice."

A United Nations communique said the Panmunjom cease-fire conference was "no nearer solution" of the issue of limiting military forces for the period between the armistice signing and actual settlement of the Korean war.

The delegates met for an hour and 35 minutes Thursday in the most acrimonious session to date. They will get together again Friday at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Thursday EST).

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied truce delegate, said the negotiators failed to narrow the breach on what he called "the meat" of the armistice, the Allied proposal for limiting arms in Korea during the proposed armistice. Joy told newsmen:

"The Commies continued to insist the only real safeguard against the resumption of hostilities in Korea is the withdrawal of foreign troops.

"In other words, they are mixing up a peace treaty with an armistice and continued to mix it up."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, Allied briefing officer, said the Reds "hinted" that they might settle for removal of foreign troops "by stages."

He said UN delegates were withholding comment on this "hint" until it was clarified.

Nuckols admitted the possibility that North Korean Gen. Nam Il, senior Red negotiator, was probing for a compromise.

The Allied stand, frequently re-stated since July, is that the question of withdrawal of foreign troops is one for a political conference on a higher level than in the military conference to effect an armistice.

For the second straight day the Communists failed to make their promised reply on the Allied request that steps be taken immediately to get information on prisoners of war held by both sides.

The Reds promised to have their answer ready Wednesday, but did not mention the subject.

Joy suggested Tuesday that certain information be gathered ahead of time on prisoners of war to speed up discussion of that question when it comes up on the agenda.

Provisions relating to prisoners of war is the next agenda item after the conference has settled the current question of superision of the armistice.

Farm Bureau Program Is Outlined

Parley OKs Resolutions

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—The 2,000 delegates to the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Convention in Columbus returned home today, pledged to a four-point program to curb inflation.

Ending their convention yesterday, the delegates adopted a set of resolutions which will set the pattern of Farm Bureau programs in the next year.

In the volume of resolutions adopted by the federation was one recommending a hike in dues from $2.50 to $4 in 1953. The additional state organization dues would raise the total price to members from $5 to $10.

The four-point anti-inflation program calls for an increase in all forms of production, a cut in non-essential government expenditures, keeping government borrowing away from banks and restrictions on the expansion of credit.

The federation delegates adopted a number of resolutions aimed at improving public health and education facilities in the rural areas.

• • •

AT THE SAME time, the federation expressed its opposition to a constitutional convention. The question of whether to hold a meeting to amend the Ohio constitution goes on the ballot in 1952. The federation suggests that the legislature or a public referendum be used if amendments are necessary.

In other major resolutions, the delegates:

Favored Selective Service, but opposed Universal Military Training.

Favored keeping control of atomic energy in civilian hands.

Urged expansion of technical assistance programs of the United Nations charter.

Pledged cooperation in efforts to get more money to operate county health departments.

Urged improved rural roads and better telephone service.

Urged higher teachers' salaries and state aid so rural schools could employ teachers whose training and experience would compare with city teachers.

Urged adoption of a long-range highway improvement program.

Opposed increases in real estate taxes, but favored hiking cigaret and liquor taxes.

Declared the St. Lawrence Seaway could play a vital role in North America's defense program.

Ike Warns Pact: There's Little Time For Arming

ROME, Nov. 29—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today was disclosed to have warned Atlantic Pact Council members that "there is no time to waste" in rearming Western Europe against a hostile Russia.

The Supreme Commander's speech to the Council Monday was released today with the General's approval and it supplemented previous published appeals for inclusion of West German units in a European army with defenses East of the Rhine river.

Eisenhower told the 12-nation Council:

"There has been much talk of 1952, 1953, 1954 goals and so on and I must say that the inflexible dates leave me cold.

"The real objective is to gain at the earliest possible moment tranquility, peace of mind and confident security for our people.

"In that sense there is no time to waste.

"In direct comparison with a dictatorship that has announced its implacable hostility to our way of life we are inferior only in unity—in his case achieved by a pistol in the back."

US Losing Battle Of Propaganda

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29 — Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) says the United States is losing to Russia in the propaganda battle in Europe. He said:

"While there is no doubt the United States is the one stabilizing force in European affairs today, there is disquieting evidence we are losing the propaganda battle to the Kremlin."

Bender returned to this country recently from a tour of Western Europe and North Africa as a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Champion Brings Only $6.75 A Lb.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Toby, the 1,200-pound Aberdeen Angus grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition sold for only $6.75 a pound today.

This was only slightly more than half as much as the $12-a-pound last year's champion, a Hereford, brought.

Toby, owned by Iowa State college, was bought by the Triangle Packing Co. of Chicago and will be slaughtered for a Millburn, N. J., meat market.

Princess Shows She's Rug-Cutter

LONDON, Nov. 29—Princess Margaret has won herself a few non-royal title today—"a hot rug-cutter."

The 21-year-old Princess was the center of attention last night at the London home of Lord Rothermere where she put on an enthusiastic jitter-bug performance at the season's hottest private rug-cutting party.

'One-Way' Fire Dog Is Dead

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 29—Whiskers, the "one-way" fire dog is dead.

The big Dalmatian, veteran of 700 fires with Fire Truck Co. No. 1, in his seven year career, was put to death to spare him further suffering from a brain tumor.

In his prime Whiskers rode to all the fires and climbed awkwardly up the first ladder he saw. The firemen explained that he never mastered the trick of climbing down, but had to be carried out—a one-way dog.

2 Big Dogs Try To Drown Little One In River

BUFFALO, Nov. 29—A grateful little dog was recovering today from shock and bites inflicted by two big dogs who tried to drown him.

A policeman termed the incident "attempted murder." An agent of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals called it "the most unusual story I've ever heard."

Patrolman William R. Carleto of the police department of suburban Tonawanda told how he rescued the mongrel from the icy waters of a creek:

"One dog had the little guy by the head or the ear and the other grabbed him by the hind leg and they flipped him into the creek.

"Then they'd sit there and wait until the little one crawled back up on the bank, and the two big ones would grab him again and toss him back into the water.

"It's hard to believe, but they were actually trying to kill the little mutt."

More Strikes Now Than In '50

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—The Labor Department reported today that 440 strikes began in October, compared with 400 in September and 550 in October, 1950.

Workers engaged in new strikes increased from 200,000 in September to 240,000 in October. Total idleness, including carryovers from previous months, rose from 2,400,000 man-days in September to 2,750,000 in October.

2,000 Atrocity Counts Unfounded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Gen. Ridgway informed the Pentagon today that approximately 2,000 charges of atrocity slayings in Korea were classed as "unfounded or unprovable" between Aug. 31 and Nov. 20.

Ridgway's statement was forwarded to the Defense Department to explain the "discrepancy" between his report to the United Nations in August that 8,000 atrocity cases were being investigated, and his November statement that the number of atrocities "may approximate 6,000."

PRO-SOVIET CHIEF OUSTED

New Syrian Government Lasts Only A Single Day

DAMASCUS, Nov. 29—Syria's army rebelled today, ousting and arresting members of the day-old government of anti-American pro-Soviet Premier Maarouf Dawalbi. An army announcement said it acted to prevent establishment of a monarchy.

The swift uprising and seizure of power was led by Col. Adib El Shishikli, who also led a coup in 1949.

A communique issued by the insurgents said they refused to permit the army to be used as a tool for the alleged Populist Party attempt to destroy Syria's independence and establish a monarchy.

It was reported in Beirut, Lebanon, that the Syrian army occupied important centers in Damascus, the capital, placing special guards around the presidential palace and seizing the offices of Dawalbi's Populist Party.

• • •

AN ARMY communique, which was read over Damascus radio, said the move was made "in view of the increased instability" of the country.

Dawalbi's Populist Party took office only yesterday to end a crisis lasting almost three weeks growing out of the Western invitation to Syria to join a Middle East defense command.

Dawalbi's predecessor, Hasan Al-Hakim, favored joining the command, but was opposed by his foreign minister, Faydi El-Atassi, and resigned Nov. 10.

The army communique charged that Dawalbi, who is bitterly anti-American and favors seeking military aid from Russia, is head of a party which "repeatedly tried to destroy the country's independence by advocating unification with other states."

At various times, Syria has been mentioned as a participant in the "Greater Syria" and "Fertile Crescent" plans providing for unity with one or more of its Arab neighbors—Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon and Saudi-Arabia.

Syria has been the scene of political turmoil ever since the end of the Palestine war with rebellions and coups, in which the military frequently has played a major role, almost common-place.

Detroit Movie Cuts Prices And Business Booms

DETROIT, Nov. 29 — Detroit's price-cutting idea spread to Michigan's third-largest movie theater today, with an entire family able to get in for one dollar.

Originator of the plan was restaurateur Joseph Tuczak, who slashed prices on his menu to 1939 levels and then had to hire six extra employes to handle the triple demand.

Although price cutbacks were less severe, the 3,500-seat Hollywood theater instituted a net price reduction of about 30 percent. Said manager Jor Adelman:

"Attendance went up about 30 percent, so business was about even from a money standpoint. I don't believe there was $25 difference in the till, but we had a lot more people in the house, and that's what we want."

The Hollywood did have a flat price of 70 cents (except for a nine-cent fare for kids at the Saturday wild west bills).

Sunday it chopped that to 60 cents for single tickets, and put its biggest reduction in effect for couples—two seats for a dollar. Along with its policy of letting children under 12 in free if accompanied by parents, an entire family gets admission for the dollar.

Cornerstone Fails To Yield Quart Of Old Whisky

PEKIN, Ill., Nov. 29—Tavern owner Julius E. Barnes, who police say they caught trying to steal the old City Hall cornerstone, once reputed to contain a quart of 1884 whisky, was acquitted of a drunkenness accusation yesterday.

Five Pekin policemen testified before an all-male jury Barnes was drunk. Two bartenders and a waitress in Barnes' "Windsor Tap", since renamed the "Cornerstone Tap," said he was stone sober.

After the trial Barnes invited the jury across the street for "drinks on the house."

The 800-pound cornerstone which started the trouble was found to contain old documents rapping high taxes and corruption in government.

But it held no liquids.

Barnes said he will donate a fifth of his finest stock for the cornerstone of Pekin's new City Hall so, he said, that 100 years from now when the stone is opened, people won't be so disappointed.

Draftee Doesn't Like 'Needling'

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Hugh Barden Potter has nothing against the army. He just doesn't like the needling.

The 22-year-old Deerfield, Ill., youth told Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday that he is willing to be drafted if the Army promises not to stick needles in his arms.

Potter explained that he has religious scruples against inoculations and also would refuse to take a blood transfusion.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—Governor Lausche indicated this afternoon he would issue a call for a special session of the Ohio Legislature for the sole purpose of revising the turnpike law within the next 48 hours.

Cease-Fire Reports Unfounded

Van Fleet Orders Said 'Distorted'

KOREA, Nov. 29—The air and ground war in Korea blazed again today and Gen. James A. Van Fleet said speculation regarding a cease-fire there resulted from misinterpretation of his orders.

Allied airmen over North Korea spotted 225 Russian-built Mig-15 jets in the air at the same time, the largest number ever seen airborne simultaneously.

A flight of 22 United Nations Sabrejets tangled with 175 Migs in the war's most lopsided air battle as 50 other Red jets looked on. The UN damaged one Mig and suffered damage to three of its own craft.

On the ground, Allied and Red artillery dueled on the western front Thursday and Allied soldiers on the east-central front counter-attacked to regain an outpost lost to the Reds Wednesday night.

• • •

VAN FLEET, the Eighth Army commander, admitted that he had sent a directive to lower echelons of his command and said there had apparently been "distortion" of the meaning by some lower level commanders.

The misunderstanding resulted in a "twilight war" with virtually no shooting for less than a day until a heavy North Korean attack in east-central Korea brought on a pitched hand-to-hand battle Wednesday night.

The Reds were turned back from the main UN defense line but managed to hold onto one Allied advance position. The UN forces counterattacked and retook this position in bloody fighting Thursday morning after being repulsed in one counterthrust.

Thursday afternoon UN artillerymen on the western front also took the offensive in an artillery battle.

Some Allied units interpreted the original Van Fleet directive as meaning that they were not to shoot unless shot at and acted accordingly.

As a further result, some newspapers in the United States, along with some radio commentators, cried out that a cease-fire was in effect.

Before Van Fleet made his clarification, spokesmen for General Ridgway, President Truman and the Pentagon said no cease-fire order had been issued. In Key West, Mr. Truman's spokesman said that an armistice must be signed before a cease-fire can be effective.

• • •

THE WHITE HOUSE denial that a cease-fire has been ordered in Korea is perfectly valid and any reports that an actual cease-fire exists are false.

The war will go on, and men un-

Girl Faces Bogus Money Charge

DAYTON, Nov. 29—A 19-year-old girl is being held today in Montgomery County jail for investigation by Federal authorities on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

Authorities said she was arrested earlier this week after she had passed a bill made of split $1 and $10 bills pasted together to a grocery clerk in New Lebanon.

Sgt. Clarence Conover, a sheriff's deputy, said the girl admitted passing the money but that she "only wanted to get rid of it since someone had passed it on her."

Tax Ruled Legal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—A special three-judge court ruled today that the new $50 federal tax on gambling is constitutional.

WEST WANTS A DEADLINE

'Big Four' Disarmament Talks To Start Saturday

PARIS, Nov. 29—Secret disarmament talks by the "Big Four" are expected to begin Saturday and the Americans have set a ten-day deadline to find out if Russia means business.

Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, who agreed to the "Big Four" talks recommended by an Arab-Asian bloc, reportedly has mapped the U.S. position including the ten-day tryout of Soviet good-will.

Britain is urging that the talks be limited to seven days before the West returns to urging its tri-partite proposal which has drawn Communist disapproval.

The "Big Four" talks will be held in the presence of United Nations General Assembly President Luis Padilla Nervo.

Russia's approval for the talks has not yet been received, but Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky is expected to agree when he winds up UN Political Committee debate tonight.

• • •

VENEZUELA, Brazil, Peru and the Dominican Republic today added their endorsements to the talks.

Meanwhile, in the Ad Hoc (special) Political Committee, U.S. Delegate John Sherman Cooper supported Yugoslavia's charges that Russia openly is aiming t liquidate Premier Marshal Tito.

Cooper said the Kremlin's methods in Yugoslavia follow the pattern set by Russia in Czechoslovakia, Greece, Berlin and Korea. He added:

"They are clearly aggressive."

Meanwhile, at the request of Russia, North Korea's counter-charge that the Allies have committed atrocities on Communist prisoners of war, was circulated in the General Assembly.

SCHOOLBUS FUEL TAKEN

2 Teenage Jersey Youths Held Here After Thefts

Two teenage New Jersey boys were held in Pickaway County jail Thursday after having stolen gasoline from a New Holland schoolbus.

They were identified as Fred Gobel, 17, and Maurus McCluskey, 16, both of Maplewood, N.J.

The pair was arrested on Route 22 west of Circleville at about 6 p. m. Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Jack Dewey.

Gobel and McCluskey told local authorities they left their homes in New Jersey Tuesday morning in a maroon convertible owned by Gobel's mother.

The boys were seen at about 10 a. m. Wednesday at New Holland school, siphoning gasoline from a schoolbus parked nearby.

Mrs. Budd Rohrer, who lives near the school, notified authorities that she had seen the boys siphoning the gasoline. The message was put on the air at about noon to apprehend the auto.

• • •

HOWEVER, it as not until about 5:30 p. m. that New Holland Marshal Wilbur Frazier spotted the auto travelling toward Circleville on Route 22 and notified the sheriff's office.

The boys told authorities here that after they had stolen the gasoline in New Holland they travelled to Cincinnati.

Found in the auto occupied by the pair were cheap cigaret lighters and costume jewelry, which the boys admitted having taken from a Cincinnati department store.

The youngsters admitted to having stolen a total of 54 gallons of gasoline in their trip from New Jersey to Cincinnati, where they said they tried to find employment. Gobel is a high school senior and McCluskey is a junior.

Gobel said he and McCluskey were headed back toward their homes in New Jersey when they were taken into custody.

Gobel's father, an excavation contractor, notified Sheriff Charles Radcliff that he would arrive here by train Thursday to take the two boys and the automobile back to Maplewood.

No accusations have been filed here, although the youngsters are expected to be processed by juvenile authorities in New Jersey.

Local Pensioner Found Carrying $1,660 In Cash

A Circleville old-age pensioner amazed local authorities recently when they discovered he was carrying $1,660.13 in cash on his person.

The man, said to be in his 80s, was admitted in Circleville's Berger hospital recently as a medical patient.

Living in a poorer section of the city and always clad in castoff clothing, the man has for years been associated with selling greens and vegetables to maintain a meagre existence.

When he was being prepared for bed in the hospital, attaches and his daughter, who was present, discovered he was carrying three old pocketbooks.

Inside one of the pocketbooks, they found 11 bills of $100 denomination and a number of $20 and $10 bills, totalling $1,600 in all.

In the second pocketbook, they found six $10 bills. And in the third purse they found 13 cents.

The man, now recovered and out of the hospital, apparently had been carrying the entire sum on his person for some time. The money was deposited in his name Thursday in a Circleville bank while pension authorities studied the case.

DAMASCUS, Nov. 29—Syria's army rebelled today, ousting and arresting members of the day-old government of anti-American pro-Soviet Premier Maarouf Dawalbi. An army announcement said it acted to prevent establishment of a monarchy.

The swift uprising and seizure of power was led by Col. Adib El Shishikli, who also led a coup in 1949.

A communique issued by the insurgents said they refused to permit the army to be used as a tool for the alleged Populist Party attempt to destroy Syria's independence and establish a monarchy.

It was reported in Beirut, Lebanon, that the Syrian army occupied important centers in Damascus, the capital, placing special guards around the presidential palace and seizing the offices of Dawalbi's Populist Party.

* * *

AN ARMY communique, which was read over Damascus radio, said the move was made "in view of the increased instability" of the country.

Dawalbi's Populist Party took office only yesterday to end a crisis lasting almost three weeks growing out of the Western invitation to Syria to join a Middle East defense command.

Dawalbi's predecessor, Hasan Al-Hakim, favored joining the command, but was opposed by his foreign minister, Faydi El-Atassi, and resigned Nov. 10.

The army communique charged that Dawalbi, who is bitterly anti-American and favors seeking military aid from Russia, is head of a party which "repeatedly tried to destroy the country's independence by advocating unification with other states."

At various times, Syria has been mentioned as a participant in the "Greater Syria" and "Fertile Crescent" plans providing for unity with one or more of its Arab neighbors—Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon and Saudi-Arabia.

Syria has been the scene of political turmoil ever since the end of the Palestine war with rebellions and coups, in which the military frequently has played a major role, almost common-place.

Cornerstone Fails To Yield Quart Of Old Whisky

PEKIN, Ill., Nov. 29—Tavern owner Julius E. Barnes, who police say they caught trying to steal the old City Hall cornerstone, once reputed to contain a quart of 1884 whisky, was acquitted of a drunkenness accusation yesterday.

Five Pekin policemen testified before an all-male jury Barnes was drunk. Two bartenders and a waitress in Barnes' "Windsor Tap", since renamed the "Cornerstone Tap," said he was stone sober.

After the trial Barnes invited the jury across the street for "drinks on the house."

The 800-pound cornerstone which started the trouble was found to contain old documents rapping high taxes and corruption in government.

But it held no liquids.

Barnes said he will donate a fifth of his finest stock for the cornerstone of Pekin's new City Hall so, he said, that 100 years from now when the stone is opened, people won't be so disappointed.

Draftee Doesn't Like 'Needling'

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Hugh Barden Potter has nothing against the army. He just doesn't like the needling.

The 22-year-old Deerfield, Ill., youth told Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday that he is willing to be drafted if the Army promises not to stick needles in his arms.

Potter explained that he has religious scruples against inoculations and also would refuse to take a blood transfusion.

Session Expected

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—Governor Lausche indicated this afternoon he would issue a call for a special session of the Ohio Legislature for the sole purpose of revising the turnpike law within the next 48 hours.

Cease-Fire Reports Unfounded

Van Fleet Orders Said 'Distorted'

KOREA, Nov. 29—The air and ground war in Korea blazed again today and Gen. James A. Van Fleet said speculation regarding a cease-fire there resulted from misinterpretation of his orders.

Allied airmen over North Korea spotted 225 Russian-built Mig-15 jets in the air at the same time, the largest number ever seen airborne simultaneously.

A flight of 22 United Nations Sabrejets tangled with 175 Migs in the war's most lopsided air battle as 50 other Red jets looked on. The UN damaged one Mig and suffered damage to three of its own craft.

On the ground, Allied and Red artillery dueled on the western front Thursday and Allied soldiers on the east-central front counter-attacked to regain an outpost lost to the Reds Wednesday night.

* * *

VAN FLEET, the Eighth Army commander, admitted that he had sent a directive to lower echelons of his command and said there had apparently been "distortion" of the meaning by some lower level commanders.

The misunderstanding resulted in a "twilight war" with virtually no shooting for less than a day until a heavy North Korean attack in east-central Korea brought on a pitched hand-to-hand battle Wednesday night.

The Reds were turned back from the main UN defense line but managed to hold onto one Allied advance position. The UN forces counterattacked and retook this position in bloody fighting Thursday morning after being repulsed in one counterthrust.

Thursday afternoon UN artillerymen on the western front also took the offensive in an artillery battle.

Some Allied units interpreted the original Van Fleet directive as meaning that they were not to shoot unless shot at and acted accordingly.

As a further result, some newspapers in the United States, along with some radio commentators, cried out that a cease-fire was in effect.

Before Van Fleet made his clarification, spokesmen for General Ridgway, President Truman and the Pentagon said no cease-fire order had been issued. In Key West, Mr. Truman's spokesman said that an armistice must be signed before a cease-fire can be effective.

* * *

THE WHITE HOUSE denial that a cease-fire has been ordered in Korea is perfectly valid and any reports that an actual cease-fire exists are false.

Detroit Movie Cuts Prices And Business Booms

DETROIT, Nov. 29 — Detroit's price-cutting idea spread to Michigan's third-largest movie theater today, with an entire family able to get in for one dollar.

Originator of the plan was restaurateur Joseph Tuczak, who slashed prices on his menu to 1939 levels and then had to hire six extra employes to handle the triple demand.

Although price cutbacks were less severe, the 3,500-seat Hollywood theater instituted a net price reduction of about 30 percent. Said manager Jor Adelman:

"Attendance went up about 30 percent, so business was about even from a money standpoint. I don't believe there was $25 difference in the till, but we had a lot more people in the house, and that's what we want."

The Hollywood did have a flat price of 70 cents (except for a nine-cent fare for kids at the Saturday wild west bills).

Sunday it chopped that to 60 cents for single tickets, and put its biggest reduction in effect for couples—two seats for a dollar. Along with its policy of letting children under 12 in free if accompanied by parents, an entire family gets admission for the dollar.

Mystery Shrouds Gridder's Death At Villanova

VILLANOVA, Pa., Nov. 29—Authorities sought today to determine how Domenic (Nick) Liotta, co-captain of the 1951 Villanova college football team, met his death in a campus dormitory.

An air of mystery still shrouded the death of the 22-year-old senior guard whose body was found by a trainer yesterday. Local police and the coroner's office differed sharply as to the cause of death.

Police reported Liotta was found hanging by a length of telephone wire from a water pipe in the basement of Barry Hall.

County Coroner Joseph Tercha said, however, he had been informed Liotta died of natural causes, apparently of a heart attack. There was nothing suspicious about the death, Tercha said.

The sudden death of the popular gridder from Everett, Mass., plunged the Villanova campus into gloom. The college canceled the final football game against Tulsa university.

Liotta was described as an excellent student and popular with his teammates. Police said he had been despondent since his team lost to Boston college two weeks ago.

WEST WANTS A DEADLINE

'Big Four' Disarmament Talks To Start Saturday

PARIS, Nov. 29—Secret disarmament talks by the "Big Four" are expected to begin Saturday and the Americans have set a ten-day deadline to find out if Russia means business.

Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, who agreed to the "Big Four" talks recommended by an Arab-Asian bloc, reportedly has mapped the U.S. position including the ten-day tryout of Soviet good-will.

Britain is urging that the talks be limited to seven days before the West returns to urging its tri-partite proposal which has drawn Communist disapproval.

The "Big Four" talks will be held in the presence of United Nations General Assembly President Luis Padilla Nervo.

Russia's approval for the talks has not yet been received, but Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky is expected to agree when he winds up UN Political Committee debate tonight.

* * *

VENEZUELA, Brazil, Peru and the Dominican Republic today added their endorsements to the talks.

Meanwhile, in the Ad Hoc (special) Political Committee, U.S. Delegate John Sherman Cooper supported Yugoslavia's charges that Russia openly is aiming t liquidate Premier Marshal Tito.

Cooper said the Kremlin's methods in Yugoslavia follow the pattern set by Russia in Czechoslovakia, Greece, Berlin and Korea. He added:

"They are clearly aggressive."

Meanwhile, at the request of Russia, North Korea's counter-charge that the Allies have committed atrocities on Communist prisoners of war, was circulated in the General Assembly.

SCHOOLBUS FUEL TAKEN

2 Teenage Jersey Youths Held Here After Thefts

Two teenage New Jersey boys were held in Pickaway County jail Thursday after having stolen gasoline from a New Holland schoolbus.

They were identified as Fred Gobel, 17, and Maurus McCluskey, 16, both of Maplewood, N.J.

The pair was arrested on Route 22 west of Circleville at about 6 p. m. Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Jack Dewey.

Gobel and McCluskey told local authorities they left their homes in New Jersey Tuesday morning in a maroon convertible owned by Gobel's mother.

The boys were seen at about 10 a. m. Wednesday at New Holland school, siphoning gasoline from a schoolbus parked nearby.

Mrs. Budd Rohrer, who lives near the school, notified authorities that she had seen the boys siphoning the gasoline. The message was put on the air at about noon to apprehend the auto.

* * *

HOWEVER, it as not until about 5:30 p. m. that New Holland Marshal Wilbur Frazier spotted the auto travelling toward Circleville on Route 22 and notified the sheriff's office.

The boys told authorities here that after they had stolen the gasoline in New Holland they travelled to Cincinnati.

Found in the auto occupied by the pair were cheap cigaret lighters and costume jewelry, which the boys admitted having taken from a Cincinnati department store.

The youngsters admitted to having stolen a total of 54 gallons of gasoline in their trip from New Jersey to Cincinnati, where they said they tried to find employment. Gobel is a high school senior and McCluskey is a junior.

Gobel said he and McCluskey were headed back toward their homes in New Jersey when they were taken into custody.

Gobel's father, an excavation contractor, notified Sheriff Charles Radcliff that he would arrive here by train Thursday to take the two boys and the automobile back to Maplewood.

No accusations have been filed here, although the youngsters are expected to be processed by juvenile authorities in New Jersey.

Local Pensioner Found Carrying $1,660 In Cash

A Circleville old-age pensioner amazed local authorities recently when they discovered he was carrying $1,660.13 in cash on his person.

The man, said to be in his 80s, was admitted in Circleville's Berger hospital recently as a medical patient.

Living in a poorer section of the city and always clad in castoff clothing, the man has for years been associated with selling greens and vegetables to maintain a meagre existence.

When he was being prepared for bed in the hospital, attaches and his daughter, who was present, discovered he was carrying three old pocketbooks.

Inside one of the pocketbooks, they found 11 bills of $100 denomination and a number of $20 and $10 bills, totalling $1,600 in all.

In the second pocketbook, they found six $10 bills. And in the third purse they found 13 cents.

The man, now recovered and out of the hospital, apparently had been carrying the entire sum on his person for some time. The money was deposited in his name Thursday in a Circleville bank while pension authorities studied the case.

Wherry Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Senate Republican Leader Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska died at 12:45 p. m. today in George Washington hospital from complications arising from stomach surgery.

Girl Faces Bogus Money Charge

DAYTON, Nov. 29—A 19-year-old girl is being held today in Montgomery County jail for investigation by Federal authorities on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

Authorities said she was arrested earlier this week after she had passed a bill made of split $1 and $10 bills pasted together to a grocery clerk in New Lebanon.

Sgt. Clarence Conover, a sheriff's deputy, said the girl admitted passing the money but that she "only wanted to get rid of it since someone had passed it on her."

Tax Ruled Legal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—A special three-judge court ruled today that the new $50 federal tax on gambling is constitutional.

Cease-Fire Reports Unfounded

doubtedly will be killed up to its final day.

But the Eighth Army, more humane in its thinking than the Communists, does not want men killed and simply ordered an end to overly aggressive action by Allied soldiers to avoid having any more hurt than is absolutely necessary.

Van Fleet issued his statement Thursday night saying:

"Incomplete digest of a military directive has led to unfounded speculation regarding a cease-fire in Korea.

"Certain military instructions were disseminated from this headquarters to corps and division level. War correspondents reports indicate that when these instructions were passed out to some lower command elements there was distortion of meaning in the text of these instructions."

The mystery order which told Allied infantrymen—they thought—yesterday not to shoot unless they are shot at is not a cease-fire order, but is simply a directive aimed at preserving lives during the 30-day limit on the trial truce line.

* * *

THE ORDER does not imply in any way that the Allies are through fighting on the ground.

What it does imply, according to high level sources which saw it and read it, is this:

1. The Eighth Army does not intend to waste lives by aggressively fighting for worthless real estate on the Communist side of the battleline when it might have to give up that ground voluntarily on the signing of an armistice.

2. The Eighth Army wants, for the next 30 days at least, only to hold on to the positions it now has and will bitterly resist any Communist effort to gain any of them by battle.

As was amply proved on the east front last night where a full regiment of Red soldiers launched the heaviest attack the area has seen in weeks, there is no cease-fire. Nor is there any "gentleman's agreement" to stop fighting on both sides.

The Eighth Army is simply taking a vigilant stand on its present line, which may some day be the permanent dividing line, and saying to the Reds, in effect: Try to take it and we'll kick you back, otherwise you can feel safe in the knowledge that we will not attack you.

3 Die As Ship Burns At Sea

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29—Fire which burned for 30 hours at sea aboard the Freighter Bataan caused the deaths of the captain and two passengers.

The 6600-ton Olsen Line vessel docked here yesterday. Fire started early Tuesday while the ship was 600 miles south of here. Her radio out of commission, she was unable to summon help.

The dead: Capt. Charles Olsen, 52, of Oslo; Harold Loken, 72, who boarded at Oslo; and Mrs. Barbara Tippen, 73, returning to her home in San Pedro after a visit in Norway.

Pope Clarifies Church's Stand On Birth Control

ROME, Nov. 29—Pope Pius has clarified the Roman atholic church's stand on preventing conception and opposition to abortion.

The pope, referring to his Oct. 29 statement on the normal periods of sterility in women, told representatives of the "Catholic Family Front:"

"We have affirmed the legitimacy and, at the same time, limits—in truth, very wide—of a regulation of offspring which, unlike so-called 'birth control' is compatible with God's law.

"One may even hope that science will succeed in providing this licit method with a sufficiently secure basis, and the most recent information seems to confirm such a hope."

The pope said:

* * *

"OUR PATERNAL gratitude goes to the generous mothers and fathers who courageously raise large families, but the church knows how to consider with sympathy and understanding the real difficulties of the married state in our days."

In his statement last month to Italian obstetricians, the pope rejected the so-called "rhythm method" unless there are "serious motives" for its use. He said the church advised abstention if a woman has such motives for avoiding pregnancy.

Pope Pius also clarified his statement on abortion involving the question of whether the life of the mother or infant is to be saved in dangerous cases.

The pope said:

"Never, and in no case, has the church taught that the life of a child must be preferred to that of the mother.

"Neither the life of the mother nor the child can be subjected to an act of direct suppression.

"But if, notwithstanding all the progress of science, there remain cases in which one must reckon with the death of the mother—when it is the mother's wish to bring to birth the life within her—nothing else remains . . . but to bow respectfully before the laws of nature and dispositions of divine providence."

The pope's statement of Oct. 29, interpreted by some as a declaration that abortion is "illicit" even to save the life of the mother, was attacked by the unofficial Church of England newspaper as "inhuman, callous and cruel."

Capt. John Louis' Wife Joins Him In Philippines

Capt. John D. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Louis of New Holland, has been joined by his wife, Peggy, at his station with the U.S. Air Force in the Philippine Islands.

The captain, who has been on his present tour of duty for the last eight months, is assigned as a dental officer for the Air Force hospital on Clark Air Force Base, 60 miles north of Manila.

Holder of a bachelor of science and a doctor of dental surgery degrees from the Ohio State university, he first joined the military service in March of 1942. He entered his most recent tour January 1949 and, prior to his departure for the Philippines last March, served at MacDill, Fla., Fort Lewis, Wash., and Rapid City, S.D.

Captain and Mrs. Louis are now making their home in the housing area for military dependents on Clark AFB.

7 Cases Slated To Be Reviewed By Grand Jury

Pickaway County's September grand jury will be asked to consider evidence against at least seven men Friday when it meets in a recall session.

The jury will be asked to bring indictments ranging from armed robbery to cutting with intent to wound.

County Prosecutor Guy Cline said he will seek indictments against William Denny, James Laycock, Raymond Grambo, Herbert Thompson, Thomas Buzzard, Hiram Smith and Merle Thompson.

Denny and Laycock, now in county jail, are accused of armed robbery and breaking and entering. Grambo, linked by confession of the pair to the same alleged crimes, also will be accused of another breakin and grand larceny.

Ferguson, 56, of Stoutsville, is accused of having cut Robert Tootle and Dan Hughes, bartenders of Son's Grill, South Court street.

Buzzard, 36, of Ashville Route 2, is accused of having forged and attempted to pass a worthless check.

Smith, 31, of Royalton, is accused of forgery. He allegedly cashed a bad check valued at $4.

And Thompson, living near Amanda, is accused of having made menacing threats.

Cline added that he probably will ask the grand jury panel also to clean up some old cases, which probably will be returned as "no bills."

Psychologist OKd As Witness In Murder Hearing

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—A Columbus psychologist and prosecution witness takes the stand today in the first degree murder trial of teenager Kenneth Bolding after being cleared of charges he used force in obtaining a statement from the defendant.

Defense attorneys asked Judge Myron B. Gessaman in a special proceeding yesterday, during which the jury was not present, to bar Eric F. Bell as a witness.

Bolding testified that he had been slapped, punched and that his privileges had been withdrawn "to make me say something about a gun" with which Virginia Bates was killed last Dec. 4 during a robbery near her Columbus home.

Bolding, 18, and Frank Branch, 19, are charged with fatally shooting Miss Bates with a stolen gun. Branch is in Lima state hospital for a second sanity test and will be tried separately if found sane.

Clinton County Base To Be Used By Reservists

Clinton County Air Force Base near Wilmington, on standby since late in 1949, will be reopened in the near future for use by the USAF Reserve Training activities now at the Greater Cincinnati Airport.

The 2252nd Air Force Reserve Training Center and the 910th Reserve Training Wing are scheduled to transfer to the Clinton County base on an interim basis. These units, now operating at the Greater Cincinnati Airport, will soon move to Clinton County temporarily until a permanent location in the Southern Ohio area is required.

Due to a lack of facilities at Greater Cincinnati, the decision to move to Clinton County was made to utilize already-existing facilities. Noflying activities are planned in the immediate future for the training at the Ohio airport.

Prior to deactivation, the Clinton County base was used by the Air Force for all-weather operations.

Pickaway District's Boy Scout finance drive was estimated to have topped the $3,000 mark during the "dawn to dusk" campaign held Wednesday.

A total of 71 Scouters and 12 older Boy Scouts attended the kickoff breakfast of the campaign Wednesday morning in First EUB church service center.

Clay Vaughn, official of the Pickaway District Scout Council, said early tabulations indicate a total of about $3,000 was taken in during the day-long campaign.

"But we still have reports to come in from New Holland and South Bloomfield," Vaughn said, "as well as some personal solicitation mopup work to complete.

"This amount will insure us enough funds to support the number of Boy Scout troops we have at present," he continued, "but we won't stop there. Already more troops are being formed here and we will need more money in the future."

Vaughn pointed out that the successful "dawn to dusk" drive Wednesday at least will insure the county of having a field executive on hand to help iron out wrinkles in the local setup.

Cease-Fire Reports Unfounded

But the Eighth Army, more humane in its thinking than the Communists, does not want men killed and simply ordered an end to overly aggressive action by Allied soldiers to avoid having any more hurt than is absolutely necessary.

Van Fleet issued his statement Thursday night saying:

"Incomplete digest of a military directive has led to unfounded speculation regarding a cease-fire in Korea.

"Certain military instructions were disseminated from this headquarters to corps and division level. War correspondents reports indicate that when these instructions were passed out to some lower command elements there was distortion of meaning in the text of these instructions."

The mystery order which told Allied infantrymen—they thought—yesterday not to shoot unless they are shot at is not a cease-fire order, but is simply a directive aimed at preserving lives during the 30-day limit on the trial truce line.

* * *

THE ORDER does not imply in any way that the Allies are through fighting on the ground.

What it does imply, according to high level sources which saw it and read it, is this:

1. The Eighth Army does not intend to waste lives by aggressively fighting for worthless real estate on the Communist side of the battleline when it might have to give up that ground voluntarily on the signing of an armistice.

2. The Eighth Army wants, for the next 30 days at least, only to hold on to the positions it now has and will bitterly resist any Communist effort to gain any of them by battle.

As was amply proved on the east front last night where a full regiment of Red soldiers launched the heaviest attack the area has seen in weeks, there is no cease-fire. Nor is there any "gentleman's agreement" to stop fighting on both sides.

The Eighth Army is simply taking a vigilant stand on its present line, which may some day be the permanent dividing line, and saying to the Reds, in effect: Try to take it and we'll kick you back, otherwise you can feel safe in the knowledge that we will not attack you.

3 Die As Ship Burns At Sea

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29—Fire which burned for 30 hours at sea aboard the Freighter Bataan caused the deaths of the captain and two passengers.

The 6600-ton Olsen Line vessel docked here yesterday. Fire started early Tuesday while the ship was 600 miles south of here. Her radio out of commission, she was unable to summon help.

The dead: Capt. Charles Olsen, 52, of Oslo; Harold Loken, 72, who boarded at Oslo; and Mrs. Barbara Tippen, 73, returning to her home in San Pedro after a visit in Norway.

Pope Clarifies Church's Stand On Birth Control

ROME, Nov. 29—Pope Pius has clarified the Roman atholic church's stand on preventing conception and opposition to abortion.

The pope, referring to his Oct. 29 statement on the normal periods of sterility in women, told representatives of the "Catholic Family Front:"

"We have affirmed the legitimacy and, at the same time, limits—in truth, very wide—of a regulation of offspring which, unlike so-called 'birth control' is compatible with God's law.

"One may even hope that science will succeed in providing this licit method with a sufficiently secure basis, and the most recent information seems to confirm such a hope."

The pope said:

* * *

"OUR PATERNAL gratitude goes to the generous mothers and fathers who courageously raise large families, but the church knows how to consider with sympathy and understanding the real difficulties of the married state in our days."

In his statement last month to Italian obstetricians, the pope rejected the so-called "rhythm method" unless there are "serious motives" for its use. He said the church advised abstention if a woman has such motives for avoiding pregnancy.

Pope Pius also clarified his statement on abortion involving the question of whether the life of the mother or infant is to be saved in dangerous cases.

The pope said:

"Never, and in no case, has the church taught that the life of a child must be preferred to that of the mother.

"Neither the life of the mother nor the child can be subjected to an act of direct suppression.

"But if, notwithstanding all the progress of science, there remain cases in which one must reckon with the death of the mother—when it is the mother's wish to bring to birth the life within her—nothing else remains . . . but to bow respectfully before the laws of nature and dispositions of divine providence."

The pope's statement of Oct. 29, interpreted by some as a declaration that abortion is "illicit" even to save the life of the mother, was attacked by the unofficial Church of England newspaper as "inhuman, callous and cruel."

Capt. John Louis' Wife Joins Him In Philippines

Capt. John D. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Louis of New Holland, has been joined by his wife, Peggy, at his station with the U.S. Air Force in the Philippine Islands.

The captain, who has been on his present tour of duty for the last eight months, is assigned as a dental officer for the Air Force hospital on Clark Air Force Base, 60 miles north of Manila.

Holder of a bachelor of science and a doctor of dental surgery degrees from the Ohio State university, he first joined the military service in March of 1942. He entered his most recent tour January 1949 and, prior to his departure for the Philippines last March, served at MacDill, Fla., Fort Lewis, Wash., and Rapid City, S.D.

Captain and Mrs. Louis are now making their home in the housing area for military dependents on Clark AFB.

7 Cases Slated To Be Reviewed By Grand Jury

Pickaway County's September grand jury will be asked to consider evidence against at least seven men Friday when it meets in a recall session.

The jury will be asked to bring indictments ranging from armed robbery to cutting with intent to wound.

County Prosecutor Guy Cline said he will seek indictments against William Denny, James Laycock, Raymond Grambo, Herbert Thompson, Thomas Buzzard, Hiram Smith and Merle Thompson.

Denny and Laycock, now in county jail, are accused of armed robbery and breaking and entering. Grambo, linked by confession of the pair to the same alleged crimes, also will be accused of another breakin and grand larceny.

Ferguson, 56, of Stoutsville, is accused of having cut Robert Tootle and Dan Hughes, bartenders of Son's Grill, South Court street.

Buzzard, 36, of Ashville Route 2, is accused of having forged and attempted to pass a worthless check.

Smith, 31, of Royalton, is accused of forgery. He allegedly cashed a bad check valued at $4.

And Thompson, living near Amanda, is accused of having made menacing threats.

Cline added that he probably will ask the grand jury panel also to clean up some old cases, which probably will be returned as "no bills."

Psychologist OKd As Witness In Murder Hearing

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—A Columbus psychologist and prosecution witness takes the stand today in the first degree murder trial of teenager Kenneth Bolding after being cleared of charges he used force in obtaining a statement from the defendant.

Defense attorneys asked Judge Myron B. Gessaman in a special proceeding yesterday, during which the jury was not present, to bar Eric F. Bell as a witness.

Bolding testified that he had been slapped, punched and that his privileges had been withdrawn "to make me say something about a gun" with which Virginia Bates was killed last Dec. 4 during a robbery near her Columbus home.

Bolding, 18, and Frank Branch, 19, are charged with fatally shooting Miss Bates with a stolen gun. Branch is in Lima state hospital for a second sanity test and will be tried separately if found sane.

Clinton County Base To Be Used By Reservists

Clinton County Air Force Base near Wilmington, on standby since late in 1949, will be reopened in the near future for use by the USAF Reserve Training activities now at the Greater Cincinnati Airport.

The 2252nd Air Force Reserve Training Center and the 910th Reserve Training Wing are scheduled to transfer to the Clinton County base on an interim basis. These units, now operating at the Greater Cincinnati Airport, will soon move to Clinton County temporarily until a permanent location in the Southern Ohio area is required.

Due to a lack of facilities at Greater Cincinnati, the decision to move to Clinton County was made to utilize already-existing facilities. Noflying activities are planned in the immediate future for the training at the Ohio airport.

Prior to deactivation, the Clinton County base was used by the Air Force for all-weather operations.

$3,000 Collected So Far In Scout Drive, Report

Pickaway District's Boy Scout finance drive was estimated to have topped the $3,000 mark during the "dawn to dusk" campaign held Wednesday.

A total of 71 Scouters and 12 older Boy Scouts attended the kickoff breakfast of the campaign Wednesday morning in First EUB church service center.

Clay Vaughn, official of the Pickaway District Scout Council, said early tabulations indicate a total of about $3,000 was taken in during the day-long campaign.

'But we still have reports to come in from New Holland and South Bloomfield," Vaughn said, "as well as some personal solicitation mopup work to complete.

"This amount will insure us enough funds to support the number of Boy Scout troops we have at present," he continued, "but we won't stop there. Already more troops are being formed here and we will need more money in the future."

Vaughn pointed out that the successful "dawn to dusk" drive Wednesday at least will insure the county of having a field executive on hand to help iron out wrinkles in the local setup.

PIG 'HATCHERIES' POSSIBLE

Science Replaces Sows; Develops Synthetic Milk

ST. PAUL, Nov. 29—The development of a synthetic sow's milk, made possible by the "wonder drug" terramycin, was announced at a seminar on animal nutrition held at the University of Minnesota by Herbert G. Luther, research scientist.

Luther, who formulated the synthetic milk, said it was the first practical product of this nature and added it would have far-reaching implications in sharply boosting the annual production of pork and revolutionizing the entire swine-raising industry.

He told the seminar that with the use of the new material, baby pigs —which normally suckle for 56 days—now can be taken from the sow within 48 hours after they are born. Litter sizes, previously limited by the sow's milk production, can now be expanded to the sow's capacity to produce piglets.

Some 500 piglets already have been raised on the milk in converted chick brooders in Brooklyn.

* * *

LUTHER SAID an additional 3,000 piglets have been raised successfully without sows on several large pigs farms which cooperated in testing the substance.

Results, Luther told the conference, have been excellent. He explained that the huge, clumsy sow often crushes her young by sitting or rolling on them. In addition, the sow is a potential danger to the baby pig.

By removing the sow and feeding the young pigs on terramycin-fortified milk, Luther's experiment reduced infant pig mortality to an astonishing five per cent, as contrasted with the national average of 21 to 33 per cent. The terramycin, in addition to stimulating more rapid growth, also reduces the incidence of baby pig diseases.

The scientist also noted that taking the pigs off the sow's milk and giving them the synthetic milk produces weanlings who at the age of eight weeks are from 10 to 35 per cent heavier than normal sow-fed animals.

Luther said the development of a terramycin-content synthetic milk grew out of an effort to bring the terramycin into the baby pigs' ration early in the pig's life—its critical period. The sooner the antibiotic feeding was begun, the earlier improved growth resulted.

In addition to reducing mortality and producing bigger disease-free weanling pigs, Luther listed the following advantages of the synthetic milk:

1. It largely solves the problem of the runt, long a bane to hog-raisers, by making growth-stimulating terramycin and milk equally available to all pigs in the litter.

2. It enables the producer to make a better profit on his pig operations.

3. It makes possible and practical the rapid development of mass-production hatcheries which can raise young pigs on the same scale as chick hatcheries.

* * *

HERETOFORE, periodic waves of disease which ravaged herds and inability of the best sow to feed large litters have limited development of the hatcheries. Luther said one litter of 16 pigs raised in Hampton, Iowa, now weigh some two tons at the age of five months.

4. The stuff makes possible breeding of swine for large litters, since feeding the piglets is no problem. It is mechanically impossible for the best sow to feed more than eight or ten pigs and under present conditions, if litters exceed this size, the surplus pigs are destroyed.

5. The sow can be re-bred within the first three weeks after farrowing, which will make possible 2½ to 3 litters a year instead of the customary one or two. If the farmer does not want to re-breed the sow he can send her immediately to market instead of feeding and maintaining her during her 56-day lactation period.

Man is Slated For Life Term

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—A jury in Cuyahoga County common pleas court today found Cecil Mason, 35, guilty of first-degree murder in the stabbing of Lucille Pyle.

The jury deliberated for 10 hours and recommended mercy, which makes a life sentence mandatory for Mason, who stabbed his common-law wife nine times after an argument Aug. 18.

New OPS Order Due To Wipe Out Steel Gray Mart

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — The Office of Price Stabilization will issue a price regulation today designed to wipe out the gray market in steel.

The order generally will cover all sales of steel after it leaves the mill. It will establish maximum profit margins for distributors of both domestic and imported steel.

Mill prices have been fixed by voluntary agreement among the producing companies and the government.

OPS refused to estimate the effect of the order on prices, but officials conceded that consumers eventually will pay more for steel.

OPS expects the order to drive out of business many of the brokers who have forced up steel prices by selling the metal from middleman to middleman as it passed from the mill to ultimate consumer.

Top OPS officials said the order is designed to remove these premium prices and at the same time restore normal distribution of the basic industrial metal.

NEW FOUND FREEDOM

IT IS DIFFICULT for those who have lived all their lives in America to understand the tumult of emotion that must have welled up in the hearts and minds of the two Czech families who stepped from a plane the other day to begin life anew in the "land of the free" of which they heard so much.

It was just as difficult for members of the bewildered little group to express it. Jaroslav Konvalinka spoke simply, but there was a depth of unexpressed meaning when he said:

"I felt glad knowing how much distance our plane was putting behind us and Communist-choked Czechoslovakia."

Those two descriptive words, "Communist-choked," meant everything. It was not lack of love for the land of Masaryk and Benes that caused the Konvalinkas and the Truksas to flee across the border in their "freedom train." It was the fact that the Communists have their country by the throat and are throttling the people's liberties that impelled their daring and successful dash to escape.

Now they can breathe freely and think freely and move freely. There is no longer the need to be furtive. They are people again.

Only this is not really an ending. It is the beginning of a new and brighter chapter.

MEETING THE PAYMASTER

SOMETHING new in criminal jurisprudence is reported from Oklahoma. A 19-year-old youth convicted of an armed robbery had been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Pending application for parole the trial judge ordered the youth to spend a day and a night at the institution.

He was given a close-up of prison life, talked to those who were in for life, and to others awaiting execution. He admits he was scared. "It was just like a bad dream," he declared.

He was permitted to sit in the electric chair. The fact 72 men had died in the chair was duly impressed upon his youthful mind. An inmate awaiting execution warned him: "I was just a punk like you when I got into my first trouble. Now I am waiting here for them to get ready to kill me."

To show first offenders the end of the crime trail, to let them have the benefit of the experience of those who have followed it and lost, should open their eyes to the fact crime doesn't pay except in death and misery. The Oklahoma youth has been permitted to meet the paymaster.

America is the land with a $260 billion debt that cannot balance the budget on a $60 billion income.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Viscount Jowitt, speaking in the House of Lords, made this comment on peace in Korea:

"It must be a real peace. If a cessation of fighting in Korea were to be followed by fighting on a larger scale in Indo-China, Malay, or Hong Kong we should not have gained anything. The opposition would support the government in their policy in Egypt. They agreed that the Sudanese must not be handed over to the tender mercies of the Egyptians as, some years ago, the Czechs were handed over to the mercies of Hitler."

Apparently every country in the world is important except China and Korea. Lord Jowitt is not bothered with them although many of his countrymen have been killed in those countries both in war and by atrocities.

The truce in Korea is as unmilitary as the war has been. It is not even a cease-fire. It is extremely difficult to analyze quite what it is. Why should it have taken nearly five months of negotiations during which the Chinese Communists built up their forces for the next phase of the war?

It is interesting that Lord Jowitt objects to the Sudanese being handed over to the "tender mercies of the Egyptians," but no mention is made of handing the whole of China over to the tender mercies of the Russians. And while it seems to the noble lord altogether wrong to have given the Czechs to Hitler, he is not at all excited over the Czechs now being enslaved to Stalin.

The logic is of the order introduced by President Roosevelt when he decided that he could distinguish between a good and a bad dictator. That formula has got us into most of our difficulties, for the goodness of Stalin proved itself a disaster. It was a formula based upon personalities rather than upon principles, upon glamor rather than upon ideals of life.

Actually this country does not know where it stands in this Korean situation. Are we still in the UN's police action there and are we going to forget our 100,000 casualties and our nearly 20,000 dead? What are we to do about our prisoners of war, those alive or those killed in the atrocities? Are we to sign off and forget?

There are those who feel that we must sooner or later make peace with Russia and that the sooner the better. Therefore, they would accept peace on Russia's terms if those are the only terms on which Russia will make peace. They are willing to accept the status quo as Stalin has established it. They seem to believe that if such a peace could be established, Stalin will behave henceforth; Russian imperialism will end.

The compound that produces this solution is not within any range of facts. Since 1938, Russian imperialism has steadily increased her territory until it now runs from the Pacific to the Elbe and has an increased population from 180 million to 800 million. Why should Russia stop now? By what logic are we to convince ourselves that the limits of empire have been reached?

Uncle Sam is calling for 72,000 more women to join the armed forces. Things are in such a mess, presumably, only the women can save the country now.

Most comedians think they could play tragic roles, says a producer. Some of them play their present roles tragically.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

THEY finished the meal, and Mrs. Shepherd announced that she would go directly to her room. Peter could take Mollie home, but he was to come right back. He had to report on duty at midnight, and could use some rest. "I take good care of my boy," she assured Mollie.

"I see that you do."

"Go get her coat, dear," she bade her son. Then she turned a flashing smile on Mollie. "It's been so nice," she said formally.

"I was honored . . ." Mollie murmured.

"You won't delay him, will you, Mollie? You must help me see that he is taken care of." She smiled slyly, knowingly, a smile which put Mollie into her own age bracket, both elderly women possessed of a maternal affection for this boy. Mollie well understood Nicholas' dislike of Mrs. Shepherd. What a—what a manager! Career woman, indeed!

"I want you to do something for me, dear," she was going on.

"Yes?"

"I want you to help me find a really good wife for Peter. I'm not like some mothers with an only son, even though I am widowed and alone. I want Peter to marry, and the sooner he finds the right girl, the happier I'll be."

"And you want me to help," said Mollie in a wooden tone.

"Yes, he seems to admire you so much."

"Oh, do you think so?"

"Oh, yes, that's evident. So maybe you could do more than I to guide him."

"I'm afraid you flatter me."

"No, and I'm sure you'll agree with me on the sort of girl Peter should have. Some sweet homebody, whose only thought will be for Peter."

"Not a career girl, then," said Mollie. "I can see you disapprove of them." Her tone was deadly sweet.

"I disapprove of them as wives," agreed Mrs. Shepherd. "Unless, of course, they are the sort who are willing to give up their careers for marriage." Now her voice sweetened and with the same syrup which Mollie had used. "That would rule out any woman as successful as you are, of course." She laughed shortly. "But then, you have your success!"

Peter brought Mollie's coat, emblem of her success as it was emblem of her failure this evening. And how she had failed! If it didn't hurt so much to acknowledge that failure, she could laugh at this evening. It would make a wonderful story to tell Nicholas. He would enjoy it entirely, being of a gruesome turn of humor.

She'd never tell it to him, however. He'd be so pleased! He was the one who had spoiled her for any understanding of or by the Mrs. Shepherds of the world. Had he done that deliberately . . .

Peter tucked Mollie's hand into the bend of his arm, patted it companionably and they left the hotel, Mollie held close against his brown tweed overcoat, the cloth rough and smelling richly of tobacco.

* * *

It was the beginning of the following week that the Ormond child became Mollie's patient. At first acquqaintance, he looked like an interesting case, but gave no promise of the complications he was to stir up for Mollie, in both her personal and her professional life. It wasn't even a puzzling case.

Before she ever saw the boy himself, Mollie was prepared to make a diagnosis. History, X-rays, tests, symptoms, of "rheumatic pain" and tenderness in the joint—and lately fever. "Any accident involving the knee?" she asked the Resident.

"No, doctor. That is, the family can't remember any such injury."

Mollie nodded. "He probably did bang his knee however," she said. "I'll look at him."

"Yes, doctor," said Dr. Ragsdale.

Her heart sank when she saw the child. Patients, individually, make no difference to your ideal doctor, but where was such an ideal to be found? In such intent young men, perhaps, as the tall Resident standing behind her, but not in Mollie Brooks, though she did her best to forget the beauty and the appeal of this boy. He had a friendly manner, an alert intelligence, bright, black-lashed brown eyes, a sweep of bronze-colored hair on his brow. He asked as many questions of Mollie as she did of him and she left the ward, shaking her head.

"It's a tough one," she told the Resident.

"Obviously cancer," he said coldly.

Mollie looked up at him; he should be in the movies, she thought irrelevantly. Tall, dark, chiseled profile—his super-interest in his work and only in his work. "Things shouldn't happen to a golden boy like that," she told the young doctor earnestly.

"Things have happened to Johnny," he rebuked her.

Mollie shook her head. "You'll learn, Ragsdale."

"I hope not," he said crisply.

Mollie braced her shoulders. "Are his family . . ."

"They're in the sun room. I'll tell them your diagnosis, if you like."

Mollie frowned.

"They—" said Ragsdale slowly, not sure how far he could go with this Staff. "They insist that Johnny has growing pains."

"I see. And a woman doctor would . . ."

"I'm afraid so, Dr. Brooks."

"Well, then, come with me."

There were times, of which this was one, when Mollie regretted her abandonment of the shell-framed glasses and her severe hairdo. There were times when all the panoply of Floor Head preceding her, a starchy Resident behind her, her own white linen coat and the stethoscope about her neck, could not overcome the fact that this "doctor" was also a young woman with golden bangs upon her forehead and freckles across her nose.

There were three people in the small sun room, a man and woman, and an older woman who was the boy's grandmother. The Floor Head introduced Mollie to them.

"Dr. Brooks," he said crisply, "is our orthopedic surgeon. She has examined your son and wants to discuss his case with you. Will you need me longer, Dr. Brooks?"

Mollie's eyes flashed her thanks for his attempt. She included the Head in her smile. "You may go on with your other work."

She turned again to the anxious members of Johnny's family, well aware that their deepest anxiety lay in the fact that she was a woman. Disapproval, if not actual distrust, of a female doctor, was familiar enough to Mollie. She found it best to ignore the question if possible. She closed the door into the hall, came back and drew a chair up to face the couch on which the three Ormonds sat. She looked down at the chart board she carried, looked up.

"I'm afraid I don't have good news for you," she said quickly. "I am sure nothing will be gained by delay in telling you that Johnny's trouble appears to be bone cancer." She waited.

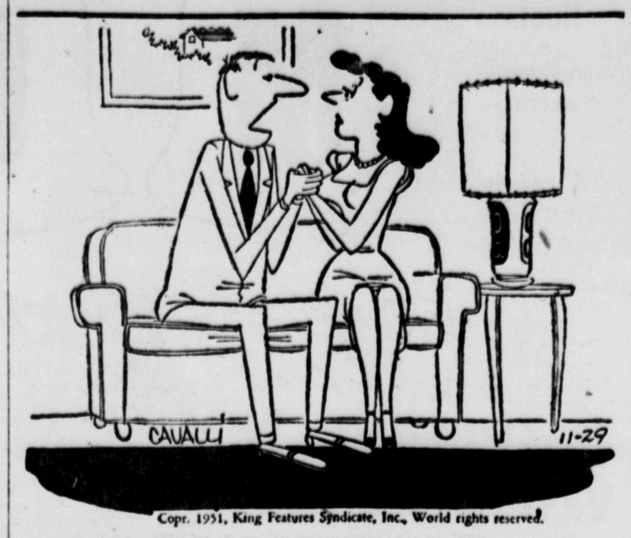

She heard the mother's sobbing breath, the father's growl—and the grandmother's sniff of disbelief.

"I never heard of cancer in a child that age!"

"You have everything I admire in a girl . . . a face and a figure."

"Why doesn't your father go to the draft board and protest?" He said: "He can't, they took him yesterday."

They said to the kid: "Don't you want to be over there with Eisenhower?" He said: "No, I'd rather stay over here with Truman."

They said: "You'll see Paris, Berlin, maybe Pusan; you'll get a lot out of it." He said: "Why can't I just see Washington; there's a lot to be gotten there too?"

Anyway they gave him 21 days to arrange his affairs and he has several months to arrange his ballot.

I don't know who he's going to vote for, but he says he hates music and Taft is no piccolo player.

In Hollywood, Author Georgie Jessel was seized with a fit of melancholy, and with tears rolling down his cheeks, assured apprehensive friends he was going to commit suicide. At the height of his lamentation, the phone bell rang. Jessel listened to the voice on the wire with growing excitement, then cried, "Wonderful! If he's that good, put a hundred on the nose for me at Santa Anita Saturday!"

The very next day, one of the men who had been with Jessel took sick, and things looked so bad Jessel wrote the speech he proposed to deliver at the funeral. But the friend recovered, and called Jessel to say, "I apologize for all the unnecessary trouble I caused you with that obit." "Don't even mention it," Jessel assured him cheerfully. "I won't tear the obit up. I'll just file it."

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—I met Bunny Johnson this morning and later, when I sat down to write about her, I thought I would start off by calling her a brave person. But that didn't seem strong enough. Whatever she has transcends bravery; it goes into unbelievable doggedness, tenacity or, possibly, fanaticism.

Bunny is a honey-haired girl from Stratford, Conn., who a few years ago came down to New York to become one of John Robert Powers' best models. She worked at it for about a year and then she dropped out of sight, in a way. It was understandable. She had been knocked flat on her back by arthritis.

It's tough to see anyone with arthritis—I have an uncle who is the salt of the earth and has had it for 30 years; I have sat at his bedside and thought darkly of at least 15 persons who should have had it instead of him—but to see someone as young and pretty as Bunny racked by it isn't pleasant.

There were two items, however, to brighten the day. We were sitting in one of the offices of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, in the Biltmore—Bunny spends as much of her spare time as possible trying to help the foundation's campaign-fund drive—and she told me, calmly and undramatically, how she had fought for years now against the ailment. She seems to be winning.

She spent all night, night after night, week after week, just pressing down on her paralyzed knees in a special set of dynamic-tension exercises—and now she has the use of her knees. The arthritis has settled in her hip area now and it looks as if an operation is next in line. She has driven herself almost unmercifully in her fight against it. Whether she will win the fight is anyone's guess—but when you talk to her, you don't see how she can miss.

The other bright item: Bunny lives by herself in a little apartment near Columbia university—and there, friends are forever dropping in to cheer her, amuse her, argue with her, and cook, iron and wash for her. She just sits there in her wheelchair and watches them, or joins in, and loves every minute of it, in spite of the constant pain. I am a suspicious and cynical man—and to learn that there are foul-weather friends like Bunny's made my day, anyway, a complete one.

THEY OPENED A NEW EAST SIDE RESTAURANT the other evening, a small, intimate, luxurious little place on upper Second avenue called Maud Chez Elle, and I was happy to notice, among the assorted socialites, breakfast broadcasting teams and other free-loaders who turned up for the opening, the small, elegant man named Michael Arlen.

It could be that since the death of James J. Walker, once seen never forgotten, the debonair Mr. Arlen is the man who best illustrates that odd, exotic, foolishly absorbing cafe society way of life in Manhattan.

The amiable Maud did well in having him on hand for the unveiling of her fur-lined eatery; this is something like obtaining the Good Housekeeping seal of approval.

These must be difficult times for Mr. Arlen. Not because he no longer is writing much of anything. After he was such a literary lion of the Twenties, with his glittering The Green Hat and its most wonderful of all heroines, Irish March, he quite candidly admitted that writing as such didn't intrigue him. "Turning out two books a year, all alike, is my idea of decay and desperation," he said with obvious distaste.

No—Mr. Arlen must be having a hard life because elegance is disappearing from the scene everywhere. He goes to the best restaurants and supper clubs in town and tries to keep up the pretense, but there is a casual air and informality these days about life, even in New York, that must depress him. Like Mr. Menjou, of whom we spoke recently, Michael Arlen ever was a man for starch and studs.

I remember something a friend once said of him: "I hate to call him by that beastly word—immaculate—but I will say it and have done with it. His dress shirts and waistcoats are by Hawes & Curtis, his shoes by Lobb. His ties and socks are a gracefully subdued symphony. His barber is the best in town. He has a gold cigaret case which Mr. Asprey was a fool to part with. His Rolls-Royce is at least six inches longer than any other Rolls-Royce. With evening dress he wears a gardenia, one white pearl and one black."

O tempore, o mores!

BUILT FOR USE

Some freezers are built just to sell. That's not the case, though, with Co-op or Unico freezers from Farm Bureau. Before a single cabinet was fabricated we surveyed hundreds of farmers, asking each farmer and farm wife their description of an ideal farm freezer. From this survey, the Unico 30 cubic foot freezer came into being. It contains all the most-asked-for features in a freezer—capacity, front opening doors, direct contact freezing, shelf arrangement, and many others.

We started with the Unico 30, because it was tailored to a waiting market, adding the sizes and types shown here until today Farm Bureau has the most complete line of farm and home freezers available. Thousands of Ohio families are living better, thanks to a Co-op or Unico freezer. You too can enjoy the convenience and economy of a freezer. It's your food bank, and we have a right-size model for everyone. The Unico 30 (left, above) holds approximately 1,200 lbs. frozen food. $699.50

The 15 cu. ft. Unico upright holds 600 lbs. frozen food. Has same beauty and convenience of Unico 30. Carries 5 year warranty, occupies little more floor space than average refrigerator. $469.50

Our newest upright—the Unico 22½ cu. ft. freezer. Holds 800 lbs. of frozen food; gives you more storage room for floor space occupied. Here's reach-in convenience, smart appearance, economical operation. $549.50

Space Savers

Our newest chest type freezers are the Co-op 9 cu. ft. (front) and the Co-op 15. (Lid open.) If your preference runs to chest models, here are outstanding values. The interiors are arranged for utmost convenience with a 2½ cu. ft. fast freeze compartment in both models. Baskets and dividers allow you to arrange interior to get the very most out of the space. Here's beauty and convenience you'll be proud to have in your own kitchen, and all Co-op freezers carry a 5 year warranty on the sealed unit.

Compare prices and save with Co-op—15 cu. ft. $379.50
9 cu. ft. $289.50

IT IS DIFFICULT for those who have lived all their lives in America to understand the tumult of emotion that must have welled up in the hearts and minds of the two Czech families who stepped from a plane the other day to begin life anew in the "land of the free" of which they heard so much.

It was just as difficult for members of the bewildered little group to express it. Jaroslav Konvalinka spoke simply, but there was a depth of unexpressed meaning when he said:

"I felt glad knowing how much distance our plane was putting behind us and Communist-choked Czechoslovakia."

Those two descriptive words, "Communist-choked," meant everything. It was not lack of love for the land of Masaryk and Benes that caused the Konvalinkas and the Truksas to flee across the border in their "freedom train." It was the fact that the Communists have their country by the throat and are throttling the people's liberties that impelled their daring and successful dash to escape.

Now they can breathe freely and think freely and move freely. There is no longer the need to be furtive. They are people again.

Only this is not really an ending. It is the beginning of a new and brighter chapter.

MEETING THE PAYMASTER

SOMETHING new in criminal jurisprudence is reported from Oklahoma. A 19-year-old youth convicted of an armed robbery had been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Pending application for parole the trial judge ordered the youth to spend a day and a night at the institution.

He was given a close-up of prison life, talked to those who were in for life, and to others awaiting execution. He admits he was scared. "It was just like a bad dream," he declared.

He was permitted to sit in the electric chair. The fact 72 men had died in the chair was duly impressed upon his youthful mind. An inmate awaiting execution warned him: "I was just a punk like you when I got into my first trouble. Now I am waiting here for them to get ready to kill me."

To show first offenders the end of the crime trail, to let them have the benefit of the experience of those who have followed it and lost, should open their eyes to the fact crime doesn't pay except in death and misery. The Oklahoma youth has been permitted to meet the paymaster.

America is the land with a $260 billion debt that cannot balance the budget on a $60 billion income.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Viscount Jowitt, speaking in the House of Lords, made this comment on peace in Korea:

"It must be a real peace. If a cessation of fighting in Korea were to be followed by fighting on a larger scale in Indo-China, Malay, or Hong Kong we should not have gained anything. The opposition would support the government in their policy in Egypt. They agreed that the Sudanese must not be handed over to the tender mercies of the Egyptians as, some years ago, the Czechs were handed over to the mercies of Hitler."

Apparently every country in the world is important except China and Korea. Lord Jowitt is not bothered with them although many of his countrymen have been killed in those countries both in war and by atrocities.

The truce in Korea is as unmilitary as the war has been. It is not even a cease-fire. It is extremely difficult to analyze quite what it is. Why should it have taken nearly five months of negotiations during which the Chinese Communists built up their forces for the next phase of the war?

It is interesting that Lord Jowitt objects to the Sudanese being handed over to the "tender mercies of the Egyptians," but no mention is made of handing the whole of China over to the tender mercies of the Russians. And while it seems to the noble lord altogether wrong to have given the Czechs to Hitler, he is not at all excited over the Czechs now being enslaved to Stalin.

The logic is of the order introduced by President Roosevelt when he decided that he could distinguish between a good and a bad dictator. That formula has got us into most of our difficulties, for the goodness of Stalin proved itself a disaster. It was a formula based upon personalities rather than upon principles, upon glamor rather than upon ideals of life.

Actually this country does not know where it stands in this Korean situation. Are we still in the UN's police action there and are we going to forget our 100,000 casualties and our nearly 20,000 dead? What are we to do about our prisoners of war, those alive or those killed in the atrocities? Are we to sign off and forget?

There are those who feel that we must sooner or later make peace with Russia and that the sooner the better. Therefore, they would accept peace on Russia's terms if those are the only terms on which Russia will make peace. They are willing to accept the status quo as Stalin has established it. They seem to believe that if such a peace could be established, Stalin will behave henceforth; Russian imperialism will end.

The compound that produces this solution is not within any range of facts. Since 1938, Russian imperialism has steadily increased her territory until it now runs from the Pacific to the Elbe and has an increased population from 180 million to 800 million. Why should Russia stop now? By what logic are we to convince ourselves that the limits of empire have been reached?

Uncle Sam is calling for 72,000 more women to join the armed forces. Things are in such a mess, presumably, only the women can save the country now.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

THEY finished the meal, and Mrs. Shepherd announced that she would go directly to her room. Peter could take Mollie home, but he was to come right back. He had to report on duty at midnight, and could use some rest. "I take good care of my boy," she assured Mollie.

"I see that you do."

"Go get her coat, dear," she bade her son. Then she turned a flashing smile on Mollie. "It's been so nice," she said formally.

"I was honored . . ." Mollie murmured.

"You won't delay him, will you, Mollie? You must help me see that he is taken care of." She smiled slyly, knowingly, a smile which put Mollie into her own age bracket, both elderly women possessed of a maternal affection for this boy. Mollie well understood Nicholas' dislike of Mrs. Shepherd. What a—what a manager! Career woman, indeed!

"I want you to do something for me, dear," she was going on.

"Yes?"

"I want you to help me find a really good wife for Peter. I'm not like some mothers with an only son, even though I am widowed and alone. I want Peter to marry, and the sooner he finds the right girl, the happier I'll be."

"And you want me to help," said Mollie in a wooden tone.

"Yes, he seems to admire you so much."

"Oh, do you think so?"

"Oh, yes, that's evident. So maybe you could do more than I to guide him."

"I'm afraid you flatter me."

"No, and I'm sure you'll agree with me on the sort of girl Peter should have. Some sweet homebody, whose only thought will be for Peter."

"Not a career girl, then," said Mollie. "I can see you disapprove of them." Her tone was deadly sweet.

"I disapprove of them as wives," agreed Mrs. Shepherd. "Unless, of course, they are the sort who are willing to give up their careers for marriage." Now her voice sweetened and with the same syrup which Mollie had used. "That would rule out any woman as successful as you are, of course." She laughed shortly. "But then, you have your success!"

Peter brought Mollie's coat, emblem of her success as it was emblem of her failure this evening. And how she had failed! If it didn't hurt so much to acknowledge that failure, she could laugh at this evening. It would make a wonderful story to tell Nicholas. He would enjoy it entirely, being of a gruesome turn of humor.

She'd never tell it to him, however. He'd be so pleased! He was the one who had spoiled her for any understanding of or by the Mrs. Shepherds of the world. Had he done that deliberately . . .

Peter tucked Mollie's hand into the bend of his arm, patted it companionably and they left the hotel, Mollie held close against his brown tweed overcoat, the cloth rough and smelling richly of tobacco.

* * *

It was the beginning of the following week that the Ormond child became Mollie's patient. At first acquqaintance, he looked like an interesting case, but gave no promise of the complications he was to stir up for Mollie, in both her personal and her professional life. It wasn't even a puzzling case.

Before she ever saw the boy himself, Mollie was prepared to make a diagnosis. History, X-rays, tests, symptoms, of "rheumatic pain" and tenderness in the joint—and lately fever. "Any accident involving the knee?" she asked the Resident.

"No, doctor. That is, the family can't remember any such injury."

Mollie nodded. "He probably did bang his knee however," she said. "I'll look at him."

"Yes, doctor," said Dr. Ragsdale.

Her heart sank when she saw the child. Patients, individually, make no difference to your ideal doctor, but where was such an ideal to be found? In such intent young men, perhaps, as the tall Resident standing behind her, but not in Mollie Brooks, though she did her best to forget the beauty and the appeal of this boy. He had a friendly manner, an alert intelligence, bright, black-lashed brown eyes, a sweep of bronze-colored hair on his brow. He asked as many questions of Mollie as she did of him and she left the ward, shaking her head.

"It's a tough one," she told the Resident.

"Obviously cancer," he said coldly.

Mollie looked up at him; he should be in the movies, she thought irrelevantly. Tall, dark, chiseled profile—his super-interest in his work and only in his work. "Things shouldn't happen to a golden boy like that," she told the young doctor earnestly.

"Things have happened to Johnny," he rebuked her.

Mollie shook her head. "You'll learn, Ragsdale."

"I hope not," he said crisply.

Mollie braced her shoulders. "Are his family . . ."

"They're in the sun room. I'll tell them your diagnosis, if you like."

Mollie frowned.

"They—" said Ragsdale slowly, not sure how far he could go with this Staff. "They insist that Johnny has growing pains."

"I see. And a woman doctor would . . ."

"I'm afraid so, Dr. Brooks."

"Well, then, come with me."

There were times, of which this was one, when Mollie regretted her abandonment of the shell-framed glasses and her severe hairdo. There were times when all the panoply of Floor Head preceding her, a starchy Resident behind her, her own white linen coat and the stethoscope about her neck, could not overcome the fact that this "doctor" was also a young woman with golden bangs upon her forehead and freckles across her nose.

There were three people in the small sun room, a man and woman, and an older woman who was the boy's grandmother. The Floor Head introduced Mollie to them.

"Dr. Brooks," he said crisply, "is our orthopedic surgeon. She has examined your son and wants to discuss his case with you. Will you need me longer, Dr. Brooks?"

Mollie's eyes flashed her thanks for his attempt. She included the Head in her smile. "You may go on with your other work."

She turned again to the anxious members of Johnny's family, well aware that their deepest anxiety lay in the fact that she was a woman. Disapproval, if not actual distrust, of a female doctor, was familiar enough to Mollie. She found it best to ignore the question if possible. She closed the door into the hall, came back and drew a chair up to face the couch on which the three Ormonds sat. She looked down at the chart board she carried, looked up.

"I'm afraid I don't have good news for you," she said quickly. "I am sure nothing will be gained by delay in telling you that Johnny's trouble appears to be bone cancer." She waited.

She heard the mother's sobbing breath, the father's growl—and the grandmother's sniff of disbelief.

"I never heard of cancer in a child that age!"

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Pvt. Donald Crist, son of Mrs. Hazel Crist, Northridge road, was to leave Friday for Camp Stoneman, Calif., from where he expects to be sent soon with a replacement unit to Japan.

Paul Bowers, Ashville Route 2, was elected vice-president of the Capital University Glee Club.

Pickaway Township cagers defeated Centralia by a score of 34-17 Wednesday night on the Ross county court. Pickaway Reserves won 29-15.

TEN YEARS AGO

Miss Irene Parrett was a guest at the social session of thecontract bridge club which enjoyed an evening of cards at the home of Mrs. S. B. Orr, Pinckney street, following dinner at the Pickaway Arms.

Circleville's Civilian Conservation Corps Camp on East Mound street got a new commander. He is Martin Hofetetter, who comes here from West Virginia.

Donna Courtright, Ashville, and Joe F. Asher, New Holland, were awarded scholarships at Ohio University, Athens, where they were among the 239 outstanding students honored.

TWENTY - FIVE YEARS AGO

George W. Bowers, son of Jacob Bowers, of Walnut Township, was attacked by a vicious boar on his farm.

Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger and family have returned home from a visit with Prof. and Mrs. G. P. Leonhart of Lakeside.

Pickaway Township school held its annual fall festival with motion pictures and grade exhibits being featured.

Try, Stop Me

In Hollywood, Author Georgie Jessel was seized with a fit of melancholy, and with tears rolling down his cheeks, assured apprehensive friends he was going to commit suicide. At the height of his lamentation, the phone bell rang. Jessel listened to the voice on the wire with growing excitement, then cried, "Wonderful! If he's that good, put a hundred on the nose for me at Santa Anita Saturday!"

The very next day, one of the men who had been with Jessel took sick, and things looked so bad Jessel wrote the speech he proposed to deliver at the funeral. But the friend recovered, and called Jessel to say, "I apologize for all the unnecessary trouble I caused you with that obit." "Don't even mention it," Jessel assured him cheerfully. "I won't tear the obit up. I'll just file it."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

If Eisenhower really wants to be drafted, why doesn't he claim he has flat feet, poor eyesight and a dependent wife. That will get him in immediately.

They took in one scrawny kid who looks so bad neighbors said: "Why doesn't your father go to the draft board and protest?" He said: "He can't, they took him yesterday."

They said to the kid: "Don't you want to be over there with Eisenhower?" He said: "No, I'd rather stay over here with Truman."

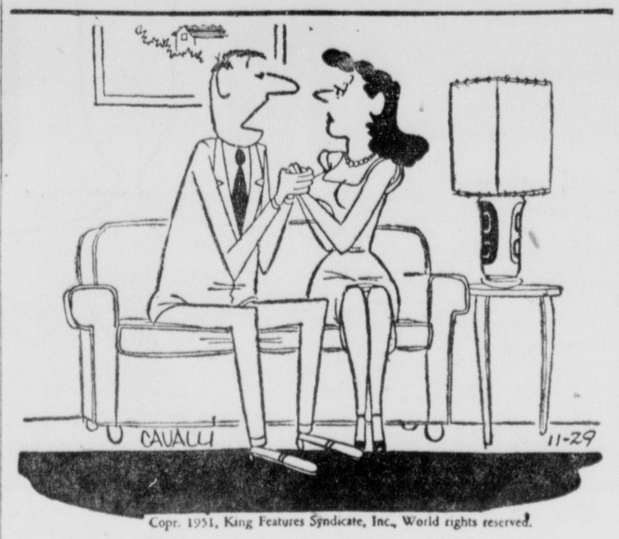

They said: "You'll see Paris, Berlin, maybe Pusan; you'll get a lot out of it." He said: "Why can't I just see Washington; there's a lot to be gotten there too?"

Anyway they gave him 21 days to arrange his affairs and he has several months to arrange his ballot.

I don't know who he's going to vote for, but he says he hates music and Taft is no piccolo player.

There is no definite historical proof whether Cleopatra was a blonde, brunet or a redhead.

BUILT FOR USE

Some freezers are built just to sell. That's not the case, though, with Co-op or Unico freezers from Farm Bureau. Before a single cabinet was fabricated we surveyed hundreds of farmers, asking each farmer and farm wife their description of an ideal farm freezer. From this survey, the Unico 30 cubic foot freezer came into being. It contains all the most-asked-for features in a freezer—capacity, front opening doors, direct contact freezing, shelf arrangement, and many others.

We started with the Unico 30, because it was tailored to a waiting market, adding the sizes and types shown here until today Farm Bureau has the most complete line of farm and home freezers available. Thousands of Ohio families are living better, thanks to a Co-op or Unico freezer. You too can enjoy the convenience and economy of a freezer. It's your food bank, and we have a right-size model for everyone. The Unico 30 (left, above) holds approximately 1,200 lbs. frozen food.

$699.50

The 15 cu. ft. Unico upright holds 600 lbs. frozen food. Has same beauty and convenience of Unico 30. Carries 5 year warranty, occupies little more floor space than average refrigerator.

Space Savers

Our newest chest type freezers are the Co-op 9 cu. ft. (front) and the Co-op 15. (Lid open.) If your preference runs to chest models, here are outstanding values. The interiors are arranged for utmost convenience with a 2½ cu. ft. fast freeze compartment in both models. Baskets and dividers allow you to arrange interior to get the very most out of the space. Here's beauty and convenience you'll be proud to have in your own kitchen, and all Co-op freezers carry a 5 year warranty on the sealed unit.

Compare prices and save with Co-op—15 cu. ft. $379.50
9 cu. ft. $289.50

Our newest upright—the Unico 22½ cu. ft. freezer. Holds 800 lbs. of frozen food; gives you more storage room for floor space occupied. Here's reach-in convenience, smart appearance, economical operation.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—I met Bunny Johnson this morning and later, when I sat down to write about her, I thought I would start off by calling her a brave person. But that didn't seem strong enough. Whatever she has transcends bravery; it goes into unbelievable doggedness, tenacity or, possibly, fanaticism.

Bunny is a honey-haired girl from Stratford, Conn., who a few years ago came down to New York to become one of John Robert Powers' best models. She worked at it for about a year and then she dropped out of sight, in a way. It was understandable. She had been knocked flat on her back by arthritis.

It's tough to see anyone with arthritis—I have an uncle who is the salt of the earth and has had it for 30 years; I have sat at his bedside and thought darkly of at least 15 persons who should have had it instead of him—but to see someone as young and pretty as Bunny racked by it isn't pleasant.

There were two items, however, to brighten the day. We were sitting in one of the offices of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, in the Biltmore—Bunny spends as much of her spare time as possible trying to help the foundation's campaign-fund drive—and she told me, calmly and undramatically, how she had fought for years now against the ailment. She seems to be winning.

She spent all night, night after night, week after week, just pressing down on her paralyzed knees in a special set of dynamic-tension exercises—and now she has the use of her knees. The arthritis has settled in her hip area now and it looks as if an operation is next in line. She has driven herself almost unmercifully in her fight against it. Whether she will win the fight is anyone's guess—but when you talk to her, you don't see how she can miss.

The other bright item: Bunny lives by herself in a little apartment near Columbia university—and there, friends are forever dropping in to cheer her, amuse her, argue with her, and cook, iron and wash for her. She just sits there in her wheelchair and watches them, or joins in, and loves every minute of it, in spite of the constant pain. I am a suspicious and cynical man—and to learn that there are foul-weather friends like Bunny's made my day, anyway, a complete one.

THEY OPENED A NEW EAST SIDE RESTAURANT the other evening, a small, intimate, luxurious little place on upper Second avenue called Maud Chez Elle, and I was happy to notice, among the assorted socialites, breakfast broadcasting teams and other free-loaders who turned up for the opening, the small, elegant man named Michael Arlen.

It could be that since the death of James J. Walker, once seen never forgotten, the debonair Mr. Arlen is the man who best illustrates that odd, exotic, foolishly absorbing cafe society way of life in Manhattan.

The amiable Maud did well in having him on hand for the unveiling of her fur-lined eatery; this is something like obtaining the Good Housekeeping seal of approval.

These must be difficult times for Mr. Arlen. Not because he no longer is writing much of anything. After he was such a literary lion of the Twenties, with his glittering The Green Hat and its most wonderful of all heroines, Irish March, he quite candidly admitted that writing as such didn't intrigue him. "Turning out two books a year, all alike, is my idea of decay and desperation," he said with obvious distaste.

No—Mr. Arlen must be having a hard life because elegance is disappearing from the scene everywhere. He goes to the best restaurants and supper clubs in town and tries to keep up the pretense, but there is a casual air and informality these days about life, even in New York, that must depress him. Like Mr. Menjou, of whom we spoke recently, Michael Arlen ever was a man for starch and studs.

I remember something a friend once said of him: "I hate to call him by that beastly word—immaculate—but I will say it and have done with it. His dress shirts and waistcoats are by Hawes & Curtis, his shoes by Lobb. His ties and socks are a gracefully subdued symphony. His barber is the best in town. He has a gold cigaret case which Mr. Asprey was a fool to part with. His Rolls-Royce is at least six inches longer than any other Rolls-Royce. With evening dress he wears a gardenia, one white pearl and one black."

Resolution And Tribute To Mrs. Blanche Motschman Is Adopted At Meeting

Mrs. Croman Is Appointed

Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs held a meeting Tuesday evening in Trustees Room of Circleville Memorial Hall and adopted a resolution of respect as a memorial to Mrs. Blanche Y. Motschman who died Nov. 9 in Cleveland.

Mrs. Clark Will presided at the meeting when the following resolution was read into the minutes:

"With feelings of deepest regret, the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, must record the passing of a valuable and faithful member.

"At the time of her death, she was recording secretary of the Association. She gave unstintingly of her time and talents to community service and her loss is deeply felt by many in various organizations to which she devoted her abilities.

"Therefore, be it resolved: That this tribute to her memory be inscribed in the minutes of this Association and a copy sent to her sister, Mrs. Clark Shepard of Shaker Heights.

It was announced that since the regular meeting date fell on Christmas, no meeting would be held in December and that the next session would be Jan. 27.

Mrs. Forest Croman was appointed as recording secretary of the Association.

Member organizations were urged to support the blood bank program with at least two per cent of their members donated blood each month. Next visit of the bloodmobile is Dec. 26.

I Did It—Lost 66 Lbs. My Secret Was Rennel

Youngstown Lady Feels Ten Years Younger

"I certainly could recommend Rennel Concentrate to anyone wanting to lose weight and not suffer hunger," writes Mrs. Mary Stephens, 440 Kenmore Ave., Youngstown, Ohio. "Before taking Rennel I had gained weight steadily for a number of years and began having leg trouble so that I was unable to exercise or do my own work as usual. It was thought that I might possibly have to have an operation. Since taking Rennel, however, I have lost 66 lbs. and I feel better than I have for 10 or 12 years. I'm now able to do all my work again, even washing walls and ceilings. It's easy to see why I praise Rennel so highly."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on genuine Rennel.

Resolution And Tribute To Mrs. Blanche Motschman Is Adopted At Meeting

Mrs. Croman Is Appointed

Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs held a meeting Tuesday evening in Trustees Room of Circleville Memorial Hall and adopted a resolution of respect as a memorial to Mrs. Blanche Y. Motschman who died Nov. 9 in Cleveland.

Mrs. Clark Will presided at the meeting when the following resolution was read into the minutes:

"With feelings of deepest regret, the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, must record the passing of a valuable and faithful member.

"At the time of her death, she was recording secretary of the Association. She gave unstintingly of her time and talents to community service and her loss is deeply felt by many in various organizations to which she devoted her abilities.

"Therefore, be it resolved: That this tribute to her memory be inscribed in the minutes of this Association and a copy sent to her sister, Mrs. Clark Shepard of Shaker Heights.

It was announced that since the regular meeting date fell on Christmas, no meeting would be held in December and that the next session would be Jan. 27.

Mrs. Forest Croman was appointed as recording secretary of the Association.

Member organizations were urged to support the blood bank program with at least two per cent of their members donated blood each month. Next visit of the bloodmobile is Dec. 26.

I Did It—Lost 66 Lbs. My Secret Was Rennel

Youngstown Lady Feels Ten Years Younger

"I certainly could recommend Rennel Concentrate to anyone wanting to lose weight and not suffer hunger," writes Mrs. Mary Stephens, 440 Kenmore Ave., Youngstown, Ohio. "Before taking Rennel I had gained weight steadily for a number of years and began having leg trouble so that I was unable to exercise or do my own work as usual. It was thought that I might possibly have to have an operation. Since taking Rennel, however, I have lost 66 lbs. and I feel better than I have for 10 or 12 years. I'm now able to do all my work again, even washing walls and ceilings. It's easy to see why I praise Rennel so highly."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on genuine Rennel.

Prime Minister Churchill's government is somewhat on the spot today in the North Atlantic pact council maneuvers.

A proposal by Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg would widen the projected "European army" to serve under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command.

The maneuver is aimed at getting Britain to join mainly, although the Scandinavian members such as Denmark and Norway also are invited. Aside from West Germany and the Benelux lands, only France and Italy are included in present European army talks.

A North Atlantic council spokesman said all members of the 12-nation group are "agreed unanimously" on the need for a "European defense community."

That may be. But what is the definition of such a defense community?

One delegate says that the idea is to pool all national armies in Europe, including the West German units, and forget the previous idea of quota troops from individual countries.

* * *

THE BENELUX nations have objected to a supranational authority for such an army as originally devised on a quota basis. And the resolution aimed at widening the army shows their fear that it never would work without Britain.

The European army, along with the Schuman Plan for pooling iron and steel industries, is recognized as a step toward a federated Europe.

American leaders, and especially Eisenhower, want such a federation in alliance with the United States.

Britain, under Clement Attlee's regime, solidly opposed British entry into the various federation schemes despite consent to participate in the unofficial parliamentary group known as the Council of Europe.

The island kingdom, under Prime Minister Churchill's conservatives, still is aloof.

The conflicting views of Americans, Britons and European continentals were demonstrated clearly last week in the parliamentary debate at Strasbourg, home of the Council of Europe.

First of all there was the German situation as outlined by Dr. Hinrich von Brentano, one of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's advisers.

* * *

VON BRENTANO reflected German confusion when he told the American congressmen and European parliamentary members:

"First, we are told that if we are going to be Democratic we must give up all military ideas (right after the war ended).

"Then we are told that if we want to be Democratic we must form an army (after the Communist threat). Where are we?"

The German demanded equal rights for Germany in any West European defense setup, and a colleague, Carlo Schmidt, echoed this by saying "defense must mean more than simply allowing Germany to become a battlefield."

City Is Given Half-Million Gift

LORAIN, Nov. 29—The National Tube Co. in effect gave the city of Lorain a gift of nearly $573,000 yesterday.

The company and city officials had engaged in a legal battle for six years over whether blast furnaces and other such equipment are real or personal property. Meanwhile, the company was forced to pay tax on the equipment as real property.

Last month, the state ruled that the furnaces and other equipment are personal property and ordered the city to refund $575,000 in taxes paid by the company.

The company, however, agreed to accept a token payment of $2,311 because the city would then be forced to cut expenses to make up for the loss of the tax money.

EUROPEAN ARMY CITED

Important Problem Given To General Eisenhower

PARIS, Nov. 29—A world war and the epic struggle for peace has cast Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower into an important place in American—and European—history.

Eisenhower is very much a "cosmopolite," a term which angers and worries the Kremlin which cannot stand infiltration of a new —or old—idea if it jars with the Stalinist view.

The general was born of European stock in Texas, reared in Kansas, educated at West Point, N. Y., served in various Army posts throughout the world, and finally bought a home in Pennsylvania.

Eisenhower is avoiding open political talk about his own possible political aspirations in the United States, but he cannot avoid European politics.

The latter is part of the staggering job assigned to him by President Truman.

Thus Eisenhower has injected his powerful personality very forcefully into European politics when he calls virtually for a United States of Europe, an age-old dream that has caused so much dissension through the centuries.

* * *

EISENHOWER told the European members of the Atlantic pact —a dozen now and 14 when Turkey and Greece enter—that:

"We must pool our sovereignty and attempt the impossible."

West Germany, he said, must be brought into the "European army," completely and quickly.

Eisenhower admitted freely that he was "horrified" at the idea of a so-called European army, a melting of nationalist forces on either a complete or quota basis, when he first arrived in Europe to set up the historic defenses last January.

Now he says he has learned it must be done and done quickly.

Of the five points he made in his speeches to the Atlantic pact military committee and the council most of them boil down to the European federation idea — as based primarily on a European army.

The 61-year-old general first was faced with the idea of a European army—as distinct from individual European armies—when it was conceived by the French. Another term for it is the "Pleven Plan," named after French Premier Rene Pleven.

Hand-in-hand with the army idea is the Schuman plan, named after French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman. This idea calls for a pooling of European steel and iron industries—another step on the federation road.

Eisenhower probably had both in mind when he stressed a pooling of resources to meet the common danger—a Soviet bloc already pooled politically and industrially into a powerful combine although Russia maintains the fiction that the satellite states are independent.

Cleveland Chief Seriously Ill

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29 — Cleveland Police Chief George C. Matowitz is in critical condition today at St. John's hospital where he was rushed late last night.

Hospital officials said that Matowitz regained consciousness early today. Matowitz underwent exploratory surgery Sept. 25 and doctors found that he had a malignant tumor in the esophagus that could not be removed.

Special Care Urged For Farm Gear In Winter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Government engineers urged farmers today to take extra good care of their machinery this Winter because they probably won't be able to replace it next year.

The Agriculture Department pointed out that a shortage of critical materials brought about by the expanded defense program will cut down the production of farm machinery.

Some of the tips to farmers include these:

Check all machines for broken, loose or defective parts. Tag those that will need repair.

Clean and rust-proof machines and paint exposed wood and metal parts. This is particularly true of machines not sheltered in buildings.

Remove canvases, drapes and belts. Then clean and store them where they cannot be damaged by either weather or rodents.

Pack bearings and other movable parts with proper lubricants to prevent rust, corrosion or freeze.

Take batteries from power equipment and keep them properly charged. Jack up machinery with rubber tires to relieve pressure on the tires.

Drain radiators and cylinder blocks of engines.

Atom Tests Prove To Be Very Useful

AEC Boss Careful In His Analysis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Gordon Dean has guardedly reported that the current series of tests in Nevada are proving "very useful" to the atomic development program.

When asked for comment on the tests, Dean said he was limited to this observation: "There has been nothing in the Nevada shots that ever displeased us."

He added that with each test "we learn something; they have been very useful."

Dean indicated that the Nevada experiments have not yet been concluded, although he would not give their exact status.

He said that when they are completed, the Atomic Energy Commission will make an announcement to that effect, as it has in the case of earlier tests.

• • •

DEAN WOULD not predict a completion date for the huge new hydrogen bomb plant being constructed near Aiken, S.C., but he declared that "we are breaking our necks" to get it built.

In his few, carefully worded remarks, Dean expressed satisfaction with the use of the new continental proving grounds for atomic weapons in Nevada.

He said that the information being gathered from the current tests demonstrates the wisdom of establishing the testing grounds within the borders of the United States.

Before the establishment of the huge Nevada atomic test center, most U.S. atomic experiments were conducted at Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific. This entailed the assembling of a virtual naval fleet and other complicated preparations before each series of ests.

Fulltime Road Panel Urged

LANCASTER, Nov. 29—Fred J. Milligan, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor of Ohio, said last night that a fulltime commission should be appointed to assure prompt and efficient handling of the $300 million Ohio turnpike.

In a speech before the Lincoln Republican Club of Lancaster, the former state commerce director said the present financial difficulties facing the superhighway might have been avoided by "more attention to duty" on the part of the commission.

Milligan said he doubted if the "turnpike will be built during the Lausche administration," adding "there'll be much dust, but no concrete."

Ike Aide Denies General To Run

PARIS, Nov. 29—A spokesman at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters has officially denied a Rome report that the general will "seek and accept" the Republican presidential nomination "probably in January."

The spokesman termed as "pure speculation without foundation in fact" the report of NBC Rome Correspondent Jack Begon.

3 Men Injured In Fall From Grain Elevator

Three construction workers from Hamilton Thursday were in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, with injuries suffered when a scaffold on the Eshelman Grain Elevator in Columbus broke and plunged them 65 feet to the ground.

They are Orvid Turner, 28; Roland Wilson, 43, and William Minnielli, 21. A fourth man, Harley Brown, 20, also of Hamilton, grabbed a supporting cable and let himself down safely.

Turner and Wilson are in fair condition and Minnielli is in good condition.

The grain company is owned by John W. Eshelman of North Pickaway street.

Four employes of the firm, including Art Brooks of Circleville, went to the rescue of the three men who had fallen from the building.

The four men on the scaffold were employes of a Columbus construction company and were repairing walls of the elevator which was built last Spring.

Atom Tests Prove To Be Very Useful

AEC Boss Careful In His Analysis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Gordon Dean has guardedly reported that the current series of tests in Nevada are proving "very useful" to the atomic development program.

When asked for comment on the tests, Dean said he was limited to this observation: "There has been nothing in the Nevada shots that ever displeased us."

He added that with each test "we learn something; they have been very useful."

Dean indicated that the Nevada experiments have not yet been concluded, although he would not give their exact status.

He said that when they are completed, the Atomic Energy Commission will make an announcement to that effect, as it has in the case of earlier tests.

* * *

DEAN WOULD not predict a completion date for the huge new hydrogen bomb plant being constructed near Aiken, S.C., but he declared that "we are breaking our necks" to get it built.

In his few, carefully worded remarks, Dean expressed satisfaction with the use of the new continental proving grounds for atomic weapons in Nevada.

He said that the information being gathered from the current tests demonstrates the wisdom of establishing the testing grounds within the borders of the United States.

Before the establishment of the huge Nevada atomic test center, most U.S. atomic experiments were conducted at Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific. This entailed the assembling of a virtual naval fleet and other complicated preparations before each series of ests.

Fulltime Road Panel Urged

LANCASTER, Nov. 29—Fred J. Milligan, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor of Ohio, said last night that a fulltime commission should be appointed to assure prompt and efficient handling of the $360 million Ohio turnpike.

In a speech before the Lincoln Republican Club of Lancaster, the former state commerce director said the present financial difficulties facing the superhighway might have been avoided by "more attention to duty" on the part of the commission.

Milligan said he doubted if the "turnpike will be built during the Lausche administration," adding "there'll be much dust, but no concrete."

Ike Aide Denies General To Run

PARIS, Nov. 29—A spokesman at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters has officially denied a Rome report that the general will "seek and accept" the Republican presidential nomination "probably in January."

The spokesman termed as "pure speculation without foundation in fact" the report of NBC Rome Correspondent Jack Begon.

3 Men Injured In Fall From Grain Elevator

Three construction workers from Hamilton Thursday were in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, with injuries suffered when a scaffold on the Eshelman Grain Elevator in Columbus broke and plunged them 65 feet to the ground.

They are Orvid Turner, 28; Roland Wilson, 43, and William Minnielli, 21. A fourth man, Harley Brown, 20, also of Hamilton, grabbed a supporting cable and let himself down safely.

Turner and Wilson are in fair condition and Minnielli is in good condition.

The grain company is owned by John W. Eshelman of North Pickaway street.

Four employes of the firm, including Art Brooks of Circleville, went to the rescue of the three men who had fallen from the building.

The four men on the scaffold were employes of a Columbus construction company and were repairing walls of the elevator which was built last Spring.

Pickaway Makes Its Bond Quota

Only 4 Counties In State Fail

Pickaway County's Defense Bond sales campaign attained a final percentage of 125.3 with tofal sales of Series E Bonds amounting to $73,958.

"The people of the county are to be congratulated on their display of thrift and patriotism", Judge William D. Radcliff, local sales chairman, said in announcing the final drive figures.

The campaign began on Sept. 3 and closed Nov. 13 with all of Ohio's 88 counties except Clinton, Fayette, Morgan and Vinton reaching their quotas.

"By getting behind our nation at a time whent he need is great," Judge Radcliff said, "the people of the county have shown their belief in thrift and in taking every possible step toward holding down inflation. It is gratifying to realize that these bond purchases add to the stock of funds available for spending in our own local market in times of emergency.

* * *

"OUR LOCAL businesses are far more fortunate that we are a county of savers rather than non-savers. It is the savings of a community which keeps local business going when financial emergencies arise."

It was announced earlier this week in Columbus that sales of Series E Bonds in the state totalled $52,504,313 during the drive as compared with $39,781,366 for the same period last year.

Merrill L. Predmore, state savings Bonds director, while pointing out that no drive was in progress during the same period last year, described the increase as "indicative of a sincere attitude on the part of Ohioans to help themselves and America by intelligent saving."

Taft Backer Says Ike Must Declare Self In January

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—A Taft-for-President leader said today that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower will have to declare himself by the end of January or miss any chance at the GOP presidential nomination.

The statement was made by Sen. Dirksen, (R) Ill., chairman of the Illinois Taft-for-President Committee and a potential vice-presidential candidate on the Republican ticket.

Dirksen, who is also chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, told reporters he has found "very splendid" sentiment for Sen. Taft, (R) Ohio, in his travels since Congress adjourned.

He said he is convinced Illinois Republicans will be for Taft at next July's Republican convention.

Like many other politicos, Dirksen believes that the European commander's reaction to the New Hampshire primary will indicate pretty clearly whether "Ike" plans to be in the presidential contest.

New Hampshire Republicans plan to enter Eisenhower's name in that primary and it will remain on the ballot unless he orders it withdrawn. Mere silence on Ike's part puts him in the race under New Hampshire law.

HE WANTS TO SEE WORLD

If He Doesn't Run Again, Truman Wants To Travel

KEY WEST, Nov. 29—If President Truman retires from the White House at the end of his present term, he would like to spend the ensuing year in world travel.

His intimates say Mr. Truman feels that, with the prestige of his presidential administration behind him, he could still make a tremendous contribution to realization of his present chief goal—a guaranteed world peace.

The President would like to do whatever he can as an unofficial ambassador-without - portfolio in erecting a firm structure for world peace by extensive travel to the free nations of the world.

Mr. Truman has even privately expressed a desire to visit Soviet Russia.

He would like to call on Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin in the Kremlin, once he is out of the White House.

* * *

WHETHER THIS is now a practical possibility, intimates say the president has mentioned such a desire in private conversations.

Mr. Truman is said to feel that, as a former President and "elder statesman," he might be able through a man-to-man talk with Stalin, to resolve some of the difficulties in point of view between the East and West that have thus far proved impossible while he has been President.

There are many other lands the President would like to visit.

Some of them he had hoped to visit while in the White House, but circumstances in a troubled world prevented this. Others are lands about which the President's curiosity has been aroused through extensive reading of history.

At the end of the Potsdam conference with Premier Stalin and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill in mid-Summer 1945, Mr. Truman had planned a state visit to London, the Netherlands, Denmark and Norway.

Members of the President's party even carried striped pants and formal evening clothing to war-shattered Berlin to be used when the President visited Buckingham Palace, and the royal palaces in The Hague, Copenhagen and Oslo afterwards.

* * *

BUT THESE plans were changed by the President when he learned about the Russians at Potsdam, and hurried home to Washington to report to Congress and the nation.

Mr. Truman would now—if he does not run again—like to make that trip. He would also like to go to France, Western Germany and Italy and help cement the bonds of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President, who is a Baptist, is also deeply interested in the Biblical lands. He would like to visit all the Mediterranean countries, including Greece and Turkey, the new state of Israel, and the ancient lands of the Persians and the Babylonians.

The term tabby was originally applied to striped cats; it comes from Attabieh, a quarter of Bagdad famous for rich colored silk.

Link Is Sought Between Pair Of Bomb Incidents

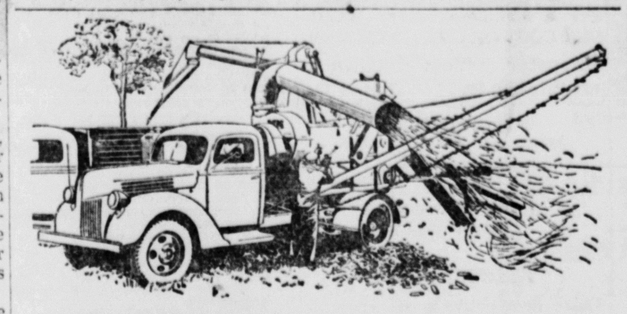

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29—Police today sought a possible link between the attempted bombing of the Neil House hotel lobby in Columbus and the bombing of the Mandarin restaurant in Cincinnati earlier this week.

A Columbus detective took the unexploded homemade bomb to Cincinnati at the request of Hamilton County Prosecutor C. Watson Hover for comparison.

The explosive, containing power equivalent to three sticks of dynamite, was discovered in a Neil House phone booth. The fuse had burned out because, police said, the bomber failed to split it.

The interior of the Cincinnati restaurant was wrecked by a bomb which was believed at the time to have been the work of Chinese Communist sympathizers.

The Neil House is being picketed by striking members of an AFL union. Police said both the hotel and the union have cooperated "100 percent" in the attempting bombing probe.

MM LARGE-CAPACITY SHELLERS ARE BY FAR THE LEADING SELLERS!

It's no wonder that MM Shellers are the popular high-capacity machines for ordinary farm or custom work. They do a clean, fast shelling job and are lightest running. Main drive pulley, cylinder, and suction fan are all mounted on the main, straight-through shaft to eliminate extra drives. MM design of cylinder and cage for special easy action does a smooth, gentle job of rubbing the kernels from the cobs so that cracked corn and badly broken cobs are practically eliminated. Large-capacity sieve and cleaning fan with air regulator and suction fan do a complete job of cleaning dirt and chaff from shelled corn.

Custom operators prefer the DB and EB models that can be mounted on trucks and powered by MM engines or power units which are easily and economically installed and furnish dependable shelling power.

We will be glad to show you how you can chalk up extra profits with your MM Sheller driven by a money making MM Power Unit.

It gives you a lot to be thankful for

Let's suppose that this is you.

The car you're riding in, as you can see, is a Buick.

But what you can't see is the satisfaction which being behind that wheel brings to every day in the year.

Take the feel of it—the way it goes into action when you nudge the gas treadle. Quick. Eager. Willing. No effort at all. You just swoop up to the miles per hour you want.

That's because there's a high-powered, high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball Engine under the hood that makes every drop of gas do extra duty. And it's because there's a Dynaflow Drive,* feeding that power back to the rear wheels as smoothly as cream flows from a pitcher.

Take the way it sits the road. Balanced. Poised. Sure-footed. Snug.

That's because of a long list of things that Buick engineers have done to its ride—including a torque-tube keel that keeps rear wheels tracking true—and soft coil springs that individually cushion each wheel.

Take the way it steers. Easy. Light. Firm. On a straightaway—or coming out of a curve—it seems to know what you want it to do.

That's because of something the engineers call "front-end geometry"—and because 60 steel balls roll in their own little race track to ease each turn of the wheel.

Take its room, its comfort, its smart good looks—and its price.

Any way you size it up, here's a car to make you thankful for your good judgment in picking it, against the field.

All that is needed to complete this picture is you at the wheel of a flesh-and-blood Buick—out on the road for a sample of what we've been talking about.

That's easy to arrange. Just give us a call, and we'll do the rest.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

It gives you a lot to be thankful for

Let's suppose that this is you.

The car you're riding in, as you can see, is a Buick.

But what you can't see is the satisfaction which being behind that wheel brings to every day in the year.

Take the feel of it—the way it goes into action when you nudge the gas treadle. Quick. Eager. Willing. No effort at all. You just swoop up to the miles per hour you want.

That's because there's a high-powered, high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball Engine under the hood that makes every drop of gas do extra duty. And it's because there's a Dynaflow Drive,* feeding that power back to the rear wheels as smoothly as cream flows from a pitcher.

Take the way it sits the road. Balanced. Poised. Sure-footed. Snug.

That's because of a long list of things that Buick engineers have done to its ride—including a torque-tube keel that keeps rear wheels tracking true—and soft coil springs that individually cushion each wheel.

Take the way it steers. Easy. Light. Firm. On a straightaway—or coming out of a curve—it seems to know what you want it to do.

That's because of something the engineers call "front-end geometry"—and because 60 steel balls roll in their own little race track to ease each turn of the wheel.

Take its room, its comfort, its smart good looks—and its price.

Any way you size it up, here's a car to make you thankful for your good judgment in picking it, against the field.

All that is needed to complete this picture is you at the wheel of a flesh-and-blood Buick—out on the road for a sample of what we've been talking about.

That's easy to arrange. Just give us a call, and we'll do the rest.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FIREBALL ENGINE
PUSH-BAR FORECTRONT • WHITE-GLOW
INSTRUMENTS • 4-WHEEL COIL SPRINGING
TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • DUAL VENTILATION
DREAMLINE STYLING • BODY BY FISHER

Christmas SHOPPING

for Him-Her-Sister-Brother-Dad and Mother

MAKE THE ENTIRE family happy on Christmas with a new television set. Make it a Sparton $229.95 up for table models—console types start at $289.95. Mason Furniture.

LET'S FILL HIS Christmas stocking with Interwoven socks, the best made sock on the market today. In all the new and staple shades, in silk, rayon, cotton, and wool. Caddy Miller Hat Shop.

CHILDREN'S PLAY things today are a far cry from yesteryear—today's toys are as sturdily made as the furniture in your home. A child's set consisting of a table and 2 chairs come in different color woods and make a lasting gift. They are priced from $10.95 up at C. J. Schneider, Furniture.

IF HE IS THE out-door sort of guy who likes to spend his off-time in the great open spaces he would like nothing better than a Botany flannel shirt. In plain colors in large, medium and small sizes. Colors are red, maroon and green. At Caddy Miller Hat Shop. Another gift that would team up with this layout would be a Cresco or Glover sport jacket or coat in leather, Gabardine or corduroy.

FOR MOTHER—A GE or Sunbeam electric mixer with triple beaters and juice extractor, 2 bowls. Think of the endless hand work this handy gadget would eliminate. No more hand mixed cakes, or other food stuffs, just let GE do it. Hoover Music Store.

IF THERE ARE young folk in the family a timely gift would be a RCA 45 record player attachment. This handy new gadget plays the new 45 rpm on any player. Only $12.95 at Pettit's.

DOES YOUR family enjoy French fried foods, potatoes, fish, etc., then be sure to give some member of the family a Fry Ryte for a Christmas gift. With this automatic electric deep well fryer all the guess in deep fat frying is eliminated. $28.95 at Pettit's.

NOW YOU CAN get Theodore Haviland dinner ware. No more distinctive and exclusive gift could be made the woman who believes in gracious living. L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers have many beautiful patterns from which you may select the most appropriate and desirable Christmas gift.

SANTA SAYS "Give Her a Bissell Sweeper and you Give the Best"—the perfect Christmas gift for mother or the better-half—or any woman who loves cleanliness and order. No other cleaning device is as easy and quick to use for daily brush-ups as a Bissell Sweeper. Priced at $7.45 and $8.95 at Mason Furniture.

A NICE WARM bathrobe for grandfather who sure would warm up to it. On cold chilly mornings he would bless you for your thoughtfulness. Buy it at a man's store—Caddy Miller Hat Shop. Perhaps dad would like some new pajamas—by Reis from this same popular man's shop.

GIVE THE GROWING boy a tool chest. Many happy hours will be whiled away with hammer and saw that might have been spent in less gainful occupation. A 12 pce. tool chest of precision made tools for practical use includes hammer, wrench, chisel, coping saw, etc. All in a steel chest for only $2.49 at Harpster and Yost Hardware.

HAS THE OLD electric heating pad seen better days—and does father's rheumatism still call for its ministrations? Why not a new General Electric 3 speed Heating Pad as a Christmas Gift? A large top-quality pad that heats quickly at a speed you choose in an attractive cover which is removable and washable. Available in blue, green or rose. Measures 11 x 14 inches at Harpster and Yost Hardware.

AN EXTRA RADIO—just a small one to be used in the playroom or in the sick-room, one that can be moved easily—get an RCA at Hoover Music Store—make it Dad's gift or just another present to put under the Christmas tree. It will be used and appreciated throughout the years to come.

TABLE TALK — Christmas toasts etc. How about that wine for the Great Day? Entertaining is in season and your supply of wines should be complete. Son's Grill offers Sherry, Port and Muscatel. Mogan David Wines at $1.09 fifth.

FOR THE BEGINNER—at the table, that is—a silver 2 piece educator set of silver fork and spoon, priced as low as $1.25 per set and the junior set consisting of a silver knife, fork and spoon priced at $2.95. See them at L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers.

A SET OF ASH trays in Franciscan ware would make an ideal gift for the small fry to give mother for Christmas. These handy and necessary items are very modestly priced from 35c to $3 each at the L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers. Another nice gift would be ash trays in Fostoria glassware that are surprisingly low in cost, starting at 45c each.

CANDY AND SWEETS are traditional with Christmas and children too often, over indulge. Make certain this year that your children have Truesdell's Candies—made only of the best and purest ingredients. Milk chocolate peanut clusters, bitter-sweet drops, chocolate orange sticks, chocolate raspberry rings sell for only 49c per pound at W. T. Grant Co. Orange slices, jolly jells, tiny spiced jellies are 19c per pound.

WHAT MORE appropriate gift could be made to almost any woman in Circleville than a Samson card table. In this city where cards are the favorite diversion for women of all ages and means—here is a gift that would strike to the heart of things. Samson card tables are priced from $4.95 up. A $6.95 table has matching chairs at $6.95 each. Mason Furniture.

IF THE LADY of the house is watching her calories and who doesn't these days an appropriate gift would be bathroom scales. Come Winter or Summer it would be a constant reminder of your thoughtfulness. Borg platform scales have a large platform, an easy 2½ inches from the floor, designed in white with chrome trim, contrasting tile rubber. $6.95 at Harpster and Yost, Hardware.

HOME MADE articles make gifts that are always appreciated. When you give them you give from the heart. Get "Loopers" and make your gifts—articles of clothing, rugs, hot-pot holders and numerous other gadgets. You may also get frames on which to weave articles for only $1 each. A bag of loopers cost only 29c at Milady's Beauty and Gift Shop.

Another Kick On Shins Given College Educators

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—College educators were on the receiving end of another kick in the shins today over their handling of athletics and proper teaching.

Father Benedict J. Dudley, superior at Siena college in Albany, N.Y., said yesterday that a grievous lack of morals exists in teaching. He charged that educators have used "athletics as a whipping boy" for current ills.

"Our educational system is cockeyed and needs revising," Father Dudley told the New York Basketball Writers' Association.

"Competitive sports is an integral part of education," he added. "I see a tremendous present and a tremendous future for basketball. As a matter of fact, 2,000 fans from Albany—students and townspeople—are coming to New York Saturday to see Siena play Manhatta college in Madison Square Garden.

"They are coming on a crusade for college basketball."

Father Dudley admitted there were some "evils" and that "we all must share the responsibility." He said he believes in athletic scholarships.

Bradley Follows Drake In Snub Of Conference

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 29—Bradley university followed the example of Drake university last night and announced its withdrawal from the Missouri Valley Conference to protest the gridiron slugging of Drake's star halfback.

The action of the Bradley athletic council reduced membership in the Midwest loop to six—Oklahoma A. and M., Houston, Detroit, Tulsa, St. Louis and Wichita.

Withdrawal of the Peoria school followed by 24 hours a similar action by Drake university which acted because conference officials refused to investigate its charges that Halfback Johnny Bright was deliberately slugged in a game with Oklahoma A and M.

Bright suffered a broken jaw in the game played in Stillwater, Okla., last October. The slugging of the Negro star, who was the nation's leading ground gainer, was documented with pictures that received nationwide publicity.

PROBABLE STARTERS NAMED

Tiger Cagers To Begin Court Wars Here Friday

Circleville's Red and Black Tiger basketball team will begin its 1951-52 court wars Friday night in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum when the Cavalier cagers of Chillicothe high school invade.

Five senior lettermen have been tapped by Tiger Coach Dick West to start in the season opener against the Cavaliers.

Probable starters for the CHS team will be Jim Cook and Southpaw Dud Morris at Forwards; Big Bill Gillis at center; and Jerry Pritchard and Jerry Rooney at guards.

Also due to see action in the encounter is Letterman Don Olney, guard, the sixth letterman returning to the Tiger squad this season.

* * *

OTHERS WHO will be on hand for substitute work in the opener for the Red and Black will be Jack Pontius, Ronnie Seall, John Wilkes, Walt Heine, Robin Jones and Ted Leach.

Chillicothe's Cavalier cagers will be a relatively green squad in the opener, with only four players from last year's undefeated team returning.

Of that quartet, who served in substitute roles last season, only one is listed on the probable starting lineup for the invaders.

He is Tom Hess, chosen at a forward slot for the invaders.

The other three, Bill Evans, Bill Skinner and Jim McDermott, may see action as substitutes.

Probable starting lineup for the Cavaliers in the opener is Hess and Dave Brooks at forwards; Tony Aloisio at center; and Dennis Payne and Don Allison at guards.

Reports from the Cavalier encampment indicate that the Tigers will have both an experience and height advantage over the invaders.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE'S height edge will be bolstered by Gillis, Morris and Cook in the attack group, averaging at about 6'1", while Chillicothe reports it has only two men of the 6'1" variety, Hess and Aloisio.

The Tigers will be out Friday night to avenge a double shellacking suffered last year at the hands of the Cavaliers. Chillicothe scored 67-52 and 65-48 wins over the locals last year, while the previous year the Tigers scored a double win over the Cavaliers.

Circleville's reserve team also will see its first action of the season Friday against the junior Cavaliers of Chillicothe.

Coach Steve Brudzinski said he probably will dress 11 reserve players for the contest.

Named to dress for the reserve tussle are Tom Strawser, Don Skinner, Ronnie Bennington, Bill Barthelmas, Tom Elsea, Mike Rooney, Dave Greeno, Jim Leist, Joe Blue, Art Davis and Charles Rose.

Managers for the Tigers this year will be Bob Chalfin and Gary Mason, while Kenneth Crawford will be manager for the CHS reserves.

Friday's reserve game opener will begin at about 7 p. m. in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum, while the varsity encounter, slated to be broadcast by Station WBEX in Chillicothe, will begin at about 8:15 p. m.

Another feature of the meeting will be music provided by half of the Circleville high school marching band, directed by Truman Eberly. The other half of the band will alternate on home games during the remainder of the season.

Illinois Players To Head Xavier

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29—Two Illinois youths will be co-captains of Xavier university's 1952 football squad.

Chosen at last night's annual grid banquet honoring Ohio's number one team were Juniors Frank Milostan, an end from Chicago, and John Skole, a guard from Joliet.

Contrary to expectations, no formal word was given during the affair concerning the bid from the Salad Bowl which the school authorities admitted receiving.

Irish Arriving In California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame drop out of the skies today to do battle with Southern California on Saturday in a game that used to rate as the top intersectional of them all.

Saturday's contest, which finds the hometowners 6-½ point favorites, will be a highly interesting attraction made important by the all-seeing eye to coast-to-coast television.

CHILDREN'S PLAY things today are a far cry from yesteryear—today's toys are as sturdily made as the furniture in your home. A child's set consisting of a table and 2 chairs come in different color woods and make a lasting gift. They are priced from $10.95 up at C. J. Schneider, Furniture.

IF HE IS THE out-door sort of guy who likes to spend his off-time in the great open spaces he would like nothing better than a Botany flannel shirt. In plain colors in large, medium and small sizes. Colors are red, maroon and green. At Caddy Miller Hat Shop. Another gift that would team up with this layout would be a Cresco or Glover sport jacket or coat in leather, Gabardine or corduroy.

FOR MOTHER—A GE or Sunbeam electric mixer with triple beaters and juice extractor, 2 bowls. Think of the endless hand work this handy gadget would eliminate. No more hand mixed cakes, or other food stuffs, just let GE do it. Hoover Music Store.

IF THERE ARE young folk in the family a timely gift would be a RCA 45 record player attachment. This handy new gadget plays the new 45 rpm on any player. Only $12.95 at Pettit's.

DOES YOUR family enjoy French fried foods, potatoes, fish, etc., then be sure to give some member of the family a Fry Ryte for a Christmas gift. With this automatic electric deep well fryer all the guess in deep fat frying is eliminated. $28.95 at Pettit's.

NOW YOU CAN get Theodore Haviland dinner ware. No more distinctive and exclusive gift could be made the woman who believes in gracious living. L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers have many beautiful patterns from which you may select the most appropriate and desirable Christmas gift.

SANTA SAYS "Give Her a Bissell Sweeper and you Give the Best" —the perfect Christmas gift for mother or the better-half—or any woman who loves cleanliness and order. No other cleaning device is as easy and quick to use for daily brush-ups as a Bissell Sweeper. Priced at $7.45 and $8.95 at Mason Furniture.

A NICE WARM bathrobe for grandfather who sure would warm up to it. On cold chilly mornings he would bless you for your thoughtfulness. Buy it at a man's store—Caddy Miller Hat Shop. Perhaps dad would like some new pajamas—by Reis from this same popular man's shop.

GIVE THE GROWING boy a tool chest. Many happy hours will be whiled away with hammer and saw that might have been spent in less gainful occupation. A 12 pce. tool chest of precision made tools for practical use includes hammer, wrench, chisel, coping saw, etc. All in a steel chest for only $2.49 at Harpster and Yost Hardware.

HAS THE OLD electric heating pad seen better days—and does father's rheumatism still call for its ministrations? Why not a new General Electric 3 speed Heating Pad as a Christmas Gift? A large top-quality pad that heats quickly at a speed you choose in an attractive cover which is removable and washable. Available in blue, green or rose. Measures 11 x 14 inches at Harpster and Yost Hardware.

AN EXTRA RADIO—just a small one to be used in the playroom or in the sick-room, one that can be moved easily—get an RCA at Hoover Music Store—make it Dad's gift or just another present to put under the Christmas tree. It will be used and appreciated throughout the years to come.

TABLE TALK — Christmas toasts etc. How about that wine for the Great Day? Entertaining is in season and your supply of wines should be complete. Son's Grill offers Sherry, Port and Muscatel. Mogan David Wines at $1.09 fifth.

FOR THE BEGINNER—at the table, that is—a silver 2 piece educator set of silver fork and spoon, priced as low as $1.25 per set and the junior set consisting of a silver knife, fork and spoon priced at $2.95. See them at L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers.

A SET OF ASH trays in Franciscan ware would make an ideal gift for the small fry to give mother for Christmas. These handy and necessary items are very modestly priced from 35c to $3 each at the L. M. Butch Co., Jewelers. Another nice gift would be ash trays in Fostoria glassware that are surprisingly low in cost, starting at 45c each.

CANDY AND SWEETS are traditional with Christmas and children too often, over indulge. Make certain this year that your children have Truesdell's Candies —made only of the best and purest ingredients. Milk chocolate peanut clusters, bitter-sweet drops, chocolate orange sticks, chocolate raspberry rings sell for only 49c per pound at W. T. Grant Co. Orange slices, jolly jells, tiny spiced jellies are 19c per pound.

WHAT MORE appropriate gift could be made to almost any woman in Circleville than a Samson card table. In this city where cards are the favorite diversion for women of all ages and means —here is a gift that would strike to the heart of things. Samson card tables are priced from $4.95 up. A $6.95 table has matching chairs at $6.95 each. Mason Furniture.

IF THE LADY of the house is watching her calories and who doesn't these days an appropriate gift would be bathroom scales. Come Winter or Summer it would be a constant reminder of your thoughtfulness. Borg platform scales have a large platform, an easy 2½ inches from the floor, designed in white with chrome trim, contrasting tile rubber. $6.95 at Harpster and Yost, Hardware.

HOME MADE articles make gifts that are always appreciated. When you give them you give from the heart. Get "Loopers" and make your gifts—articles of clothing, rugs, hot-pot holders and numerous other gadgets. You may also get frames on which to weave articles for only $1 each. A bag of loopers cost only 29c at Milady's Beauty and Gift Shop.

Another Kick On Shins Given College Educators

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—College educators were on the receiving end of another kick in the shins today over their handling of athletics and proper teaching.

Father Benedict J. Dudley, superior at Siena college in Albany, N.Y., said yesterday that a grievous lack of morals exists in teaching. He charged that educators have used "athletics as a whipping boy" for current ills.

"Our educational system is cockeyed and needs revising," Father Dudley told the New York Basketball Writers' Association.

"Competitive sports is an integral part of education," he added. "I see a tremendous present and a tremendous future for basketball. As a matter of fact, 2,000 fans from Albany—students and townspeople —are coming to New York Saturday to see Siena play Manhatta college in Madison Square Garden.

"They are coming on a crusade for college basketball."

Father Dudley admitted there were some "evils" and that "we all must share the responsibility." He said he believes in athletic scholarships.

Bradley Follows Drake In Snub Of Conference

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 29—Bradley university followed the example of Drake university last night and announced its withdrawal from the Missouri Valley Conference to protest the gridiron slugging of Drake's star halfback.

The action of the Bradley athletic council reduced membership in the Midwest loop to six—Oklahoma A. and M., Houston, Detroit, Tulsa, St. Louis and Wichita.

Withdrawal of the Peoria school followed by 24 hours a similar action by Drake university which acted because conference officials refused to investigate its charges that Halfback Johnny Bright was deliberately slugged in a game with Oklahoma A and M.

Bright suffered a broken jaw in the game played in Stillwater, Okla., last October. The slugging of the Negro star, who was the nation's leading ground gainer, was documented with pictures that received nationwide publicity.

PROBABLE STARTERS NAMED

Tiger Cagers To Begin Court Wars Here Friday

Circleville's Red and Black Tiger basketball team will begin its 1951-52 court wars Friday night in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum when the Cavalier cagers of Chillicothe high school invade.

Five senior lettermen have been tapped by Tiger Coach Dick West to start in the season opener against the Cavaliers.

Probable starters for the CHS team will be Jim Cook and Southpaw Dud Morris at Forwards; Big Bill Gillis at center; and Jerry Pritchard and Jerry Rooney at guards.

Also due to see action in the encounter is Letterman Don Olney, guard, the sixth letterman returning to the Tiger squad this season.

* * *

OTHERS WHO will be on hand for substitute work in the opener for the Red and Black will be Jack Pontius, Ronnie Seall, John Wilkes, Walt Heine, Robin Jones and Ted Leach.

Chillicothe's Cavalier cagers will be a relatively green squad in the opener, with only four players from last year's undefeated team returning.

Of that quartet, who served in substitute roles last season, only one is listed on the probable starting lineup for the invaders.

He is Tom Hess, chosen at a forward slot for the invaders.

The other three, Bill Evans, Bill Skinner and Jim McDermott, may see action as substitutes.

Probable starting lineup for the Cavaliers in the opener is Hess and Dave Brooks at forwards; Tony Aloisio at center; and Dennis Payne and Don Allison at guards.

Reports from the Cavalier encampment indicate that the Tigers will have both an experience and height advantage over the invaders.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE'S height edge will be bolstered by Gillis, Morris and Cook in the attack group, averaging at about 6'1", while Chillicothe reports it has only two men of the 6'1" variety, Hess and Aloisio.

The Tigers will be out Friday night to avenge a double shellacking suffered last year at the hands of the Cavaliers. Chillicothe scored 67-52 and 65-48 wins over the locals last year, while the previous year the Tigers scored a double win over the Cavaliers.

Circleville's reserve team also will see its first action of the season Friday against the junior Cavaliers of Chillicothe.

Coach Steve Brudzinski said he probably will dress 11 reserve players for the contest.

Named to dress for the reserve tussle are Tom Strawser, Don Skinner, Ronnie Bennington, Bill Barthelmas, Tom Elsea, Mike Rooney, Dave Greeno, Jim Leist, Joe Blue, Art Davis and Charles Rose.

Managers for the Tigers this year will be Bob Chalfin and Gary Mason, while Kenneth Crawford will be manager for the CHS reserves.

Friday's reserve game opener will begin at about 7 p. m. in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum, while the varsity encounter, slated to be broadcast by Station WBEX in Chillicothe, will begin at about 8:15 p. m.

Another feature of the meeting will be music provided by half of the Circleville high school marching band, directed by Truman Eberly. The other half of the band will alternate on home games during the remainder of the season.

Illinois Players To Head Xavier

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29—Two Illinois youths will be co-captains of Xavier university's 1952 football squad.

Chosen at last night's annual grid banquet honoring Ohio's number one team were Juniors Frank Milostan, an end from Chicago, and John Skole, a guard from Joliet.

Contrary to expectations, no formal word was given during the affair concerning the bid from the Salad Bowl which the school authorities admitted receiving.

Irish Arriving In California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame drop out of the skies today to do battle with Southern California on Saturday in a game that used to rate as the top intersectional of them all.

Saturday's contest, which finds the hometowners 6-½ point favorites, will be a highly interesting attraction made important by the all-seeing eye to coast-to-coast television.

Indiana Coach Blames Moral Decay On Colleges

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 29—Big-time colleges found the question of responsibility for moral decay of collegiate athletics dumped squarely in their own laps today by Clyde Smith, resigning football coach at Indiana.

The Hoosier mentor, who quit his job last Saturday, accused coaches and universities of selling their "athletic heritage for a mess of pottage."

His comments were contained in a prepared statement which is the first public explanation of his leaving the University of Indiana.

Smith said the coaches and universities "must certainly be willing to accept in part the blame for the inroads made by protected gambling in the field of university athletics." He declared:

"I can no longer compromise the boys under my supervision, the university which I represent, the things that I hold to be good and fine about the great game of football, or myself. . ."

* * *

HE SAID football coaches are forsaking their responsibility for the "physical, mental, spiritual and moral well-being" of their players and challenged them to "stand up and be counted."

Smith's statement read in part:

"The reason for my resignation is simply that I am unable to agree in principle with the conduct of our athletics today.

"We, as coaches, and universities, as educational institutions, have sold our athletic heritage for a mess of pottage. The time has come for universities to reassess their entire athletic programs as to their true educational value.

"If we continue to sell our athletic birthright and blind ourselves to the real value of athletics to the students and university, then we must certainly be willing to accept in part the blame for the inroads made by protected gambling into the field of university athletics."

The Hoosier mentor, whose team finished next to last in the Big Ten standings this season, announced his resignation a few days before the Indiana-Minnesota game Nov. 10. It became effective at the end of the Indiana-Purdue game last Saturday. He had held the post since 1948.

Smith said university presidents ultimately must decide on "the right or wrongness of the athletic programs." But he added:

"The time has come for coaches to be as courageous as we expect our men to be. If we honestly believe, as most of us do, in the worthwhileness of our profession, then we must leave no doubt as to our position."

Army-Navy Game Hard For Experts To Figure Out

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29—Saturday's 52nd Army-Navy football game looms as one of those few contests where the favorite is a bigger question mark than the underdog.

Army's riddled team ran to form in 1951. But Navy, the favorite for Saturday's big game, ran every which way. It took what's considered a good Navy team eight games before it could win.

Navy's defense is considered top-notch, yet eight opponents this season have averaged more than three touchdowns a game against the Middies.

Navy's offense was considered strong in the hands of Bob Zastrow, hero of the Middies' 14 to 2 upset of unbeaten Army a year ago. Yet before the season was little more than half over, Zastrow found himself a third stringer.

He's listed as a substitute for Mike Sorrentino at quarterback for the Annapolis eleven in Saturday's Army game.

There's no doubt about Navy being favored. Yet Penn, which licked Navy 14 to 0, only could beat Army 7 to 6.

Navy's strength was supposed to be passing and its weakness pass defense. Yet Navy has had the unhappy total of 18 passes intercepted so far this year, and its pass defense in its most recent appearance was terrific.

Bob Williams May Get Chance

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Bob Williams, ex-Notre Dame passing star, may get his big chance of the year Sunday when his team, the Chicago Bears, meets the Los Angeles rams at Wrigley Field.

Williams, an All-America quarterback at Notre Dame, has seen little service with the Bears this season, but in view of the routine performance staged recently by Johnny Lujack, may see real action against the Rams.

Yesterday's Answer

Sokolsky's

Suppose the United States were to withdraw from Korea, where should we be? Obviously back to June 25, 1950, when we entered upon this adventure of a police action on behalf of the United Nations.

If that is all we have been fighting for during this year and a half, what have we actually accomplished by the huge loss of life, limb and mind? If there was nothing to accomplish, why did this country ever go into the Korean enterprise? Was it to safeguard Japan? If so, can Japan be protected with the maritime provinces of Siberia, Korea and Manchuria in Russian hands?

The point is that every situation requires analysis of the facts and the problems involved. The phrase "playing by ear" may be satisfactory in a honky-tonk, but it will not serve in understanding a complicated historic situation. It may be amusing to improvise but when that costs human life—American life—a surer approach is necessary.

The peril to us now is not that the Korean war will continue or end, but that we do not know what we are doing or why we are doing it. And if we act so confusedly in Korea, are we acting more wisely in Iran, in Egypt, or even in Western Europe?

In a word, the United States needs a guiding foreign policy philosophy with sharp arrows pointing to specific goals.

Graham Ready For Cards Clash

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Cleveland Browns' Quarterback Otto Graham will take a 58 percent pass completion mark into Sunday's clash with the Chicago Cardinals.

Graham, who has not missed a contest since the Browns started in football six years ago, has a passing average of 8.90 yards per toss, second only to Norm Vanbrocklin of the Los Angeles Rams who has 9.24.

Princeton Gets Lambert Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Princeton university walked off with its second consecutive Lambert Trophy today. The award is symbolic of the eastern college football championship for 1951.

The undefeated Tigers polled 82 first place votes out of 83 cast by sportswriters, sportscasters and trophy trustees. The lone vote went to Holy cross.

Gavilan, Bratton Box To Draw In Chicago Contest

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Kid Gavilan, world's welterweight boxing champion, is far from being discouraged at last night's draw decision with Johnny Bratton in Chicago Stadium.

The champion from Havana, Cuba, believes he beat Bratton in their 10-round non-title bout and was victimized by a hometown decision. Gavilan said after the bout:

"I think I beat him. I'll fight him again and really give him a licking next time."

The Cuban hawk with the spectacular bolo punch revealed that he would like a chance at the world's middleweight crown now held by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bratton, fighting one of the best battles of his spotty career, also thought he had won. The Chicago boy asserted:

"I thought I was ahead on points. I knew I was winning at the end and know I took the last round. Gavilan never hurt me at all."

Johnny probably was telling the truth as he saw it, but ringsiders believed Bratton was in trouble in the second round and again in the sixth when the champion belted him around the ring with lefts and rights to the head.

The Chicagoan, however did his share of the forcing and shook up Gavilan in the late rounds with hard right hooks to the body and head and stiff lefts to the head.

Judge John Bray gave the fight to Gavilan, 52 points to 48. Judge Frank McAdams gave each boy 50 points. Referee Bill Doty saw the bout 52 points for Bratton and 48 for Gavilan.

Boosters Offer Plaque For Top Marksmanship

Circleville high school basketball players will have a new goal to shoot for during the 1951-52 cage season.

Circleville Booster Clubbers, during a meeting Wednesday in the home of Dr. P. C. Routzahn, voted to award a plaque to this season's best free-throw shooter.

The Boosters said the special award will be made to the varsity player who connects for the highest percentage of his free-throw attempts this season.

Award of the special plaque will be made during the annual Booster Club banquet at the close of the basketball season, along with the "most valuable player" trophy award.

Another Lion's Club Mat Show Due Wednesday

Another star-studded Circleville Lions Club wrestling program is promised local grunt and groan fans here for next Wednesday night.

Headliners for the Lions Club All-Star mat program will be Professor Roy Shire in the main event contest against Johnny Demchuck.

The main event will be a two-out-of-three falls contest with a one-hour time limit.

Semifinal event for the evening will be a crowd-pleaser, a tag team match pitting Whitey Walberg and Chris Belkas against Ali Pasha and Al Tucker.

The tag team test will be a two-out-of-three falls event with a one-hour time limit.

* * *

OPENER FOR the evening will feature Johnnie Moskel vs. Tony Sinatra in a one-fall, 30-minute bout.

An extra highlight of the evening will be an appearance by Santa Claus, with free treats for everyone who attends. The December Lion's Club All-Star program will begin at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Circleville high school band will be on hand to give a brief concert.

Big Boys Make INS All-Ohio Football Team

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29 — Colleges from all over the country are probably taking a second look at members of International News Service's speedy and rugged 1951 All-Ohio high school football team.

With a backfield that weighs an average of 194 pounds per man and a line averaging 195 pounds, the 1951 INS All-Ohio squad would give many a college team a stiff test.

The average height of the all-senior "fabulous eleven" is six feet, one inch. The first team is as follows:

Indiana Coach Blames Moral Decay On Colleges

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 29—Big-time colleges found the question of responsibility for moral decay of collegiate athletics dumped squarely in their own laps today by Clyde Smith, resigning football coach at Indiana.

The Hoosier mentor, who quit his job last Saturday, accused coaches and universities of selling their "athletic heritage for a mess of pottage."

His comments were contained in a prepared statement which is the first public explanation of his leaving the University of Indiana.

Smith said the coaches and universities "must certainly be willing to accept in part the blame for the inroads made by protected gambling in the field of university athletics." He declared:

"I can no longer compromise the boys under my supervision, the university which I represent, the things that I hold to be good and fine about the great game of football, or myself. . ."

* * *

HE SAID football coaches are forsaking their responsibility for the "physical, mental, spiritual and moral well-being" of their players and challenged them to "stand up and be counted."

Smith's statement read in part:

"The reason for my resignation is simply that I am unable to agree in principle with the conduct of our athletics today.

"We, as coaches, and universities, as educational institutions, have sold our athletic heritage for a mess of pottage. The time has come for universities to reassess their entire athletic programs as to their true educational value.

"If we continue to sell our athletic birthright and blind ourselves to the real value of athletics to the students and university, then we must certainly be willing to accept in part the blame for the inroads made by protected gambling into the field of university athletics."

The Hoosier mentor, whose team finished next to last in the Big Ten standings this season, announced his resignation a few days before the Indiana-Minnesota game Nov. 10. It became effective at the end of the Indiana-Purdue game last Saturday. He had held the post since 1948.

Smith said university presidents ultimately must decide on "the right or wrongness of the athletic programs." But he added:

"The time has come for coaches to be as courageous as we expect our men to be. If we honestly believe, as most of us do, in the worthwhileness of our profession, then we must leave no doubt as to our position."

Army-Navy Game Hard For Experts To Figure Out

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29—Saturday's 52nd Army-Navy football game looms as one of those few contests where the favorite is a bigger question mark than the underdog.

Army's riddled team ran to form in 1951. But Navy, the favorite for Saturday's big game, ran every which way. It took what's considered a good Navy team eight games before it could win.

Navy's defense is considered top-notch, yet eight opponents this season have averaged more than three touchdowns a game against the Middies.

Navy's offense was considered strong in the hands of Bob Zastrow, hero of the Middies' 14 to 2 upset of unbeaten Army a year ago. Yet before the season was little more than half over, Zastrow found himself a third stringer.

He's listed as a substitute for Mike Sorrentino at quarterback for the Annapolis eleven in Saturday's Army game.

There's no doubt about Navy being favored. Yet Penn, which licked Navy 14 to 0, only could beat Army 7 to 6.

Navy's strength was supposed to be passing and its weakness pass defense. Yet Navy has had the unhappy total of 18 passes intercepted so far this year, and its pass defense in its most recent appearance was terrific.

Bob Williams May Get Chance

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Bob Williams, ex-Notre Dame passing star, may get his big chance of the year Sunday when his team, the Chicago Bears, meets the Los Angeles rams at Wrigley Field.

Williams, an All-America quarterback at Notre Dame, has seen little service with the Bears this season, but in view of the routine performance staged recently by Johnny Lujack, may see real action against the Rams.

These Days

Suppose the United States were to withdraw from Korea, where should we be? Obviously back to June 25, 1950, when we entered upon this adventure of a police action on behalf of the United Nations.

If that is all we have been fighting for during this year and a half, what have we actually accomplished by the huge loss of life, limb and mind? If there was nothing to accomplish, why did this country ever go into the Korean enterprise? Was it to safeguard Japan? If so, can Japan be protected with the maritime provinces of Siberia, Korea and Manchuria in Russian hands?

The point is that every situation requires analysis of the facts and the problems involved. The phrase "playing by ear" may be satisfactory in a honky-tonk, but it will not serve in understanding a complicated historic situation. It may be amusing to improvise but when that costs human life—American life—a surer approach is necessary.

The peril to us now is not that the Korean war will continue or end, but that we do not know what we are doing or why we are doing it. And if we act so confusedly in Korea, are we acting more wisely in Iran, in Egypt, or even in Western Europe?

In a word, the United States needs a guiding foreign policy philosophy with sharp arrows pointing to specific goals.

Graham Ready For Cards Clash

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29—Cleveland Browns' Quarterback Otto Graham will take a 58 percent pass completion mark into Sunday's clash with the Chicago Cardinals.

Graham, who has not missed a contest since the Browns started in football six years ago, has a passing average of 8.90 yards per toss, second only to Norm Vanbrocklin of the Los Angeles Rams who has 9.24.

Princeton Gets Lambert Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 29—Princeton university walked off with its second consecutive Lambert Trophy today. The award is symbolic of the eastern college football championship for 1951.

The undefeated Tigers polled 82 first place votes out of 83 cast by sportswriters, sportscasters and trophy trustees. The lone vote went to Holy cross.

Gavilan, Bratton Box To Draw In Chicago Contest

CHICAGO, Nov. 29—Kid Gavilan, world's welterweight boxing champion, is far from being discouraged at last night's draw decision with Johnny Bratton in Chicago Stadium.

The champion from Havana, Cuba, believes he beat Bratton in their 10-round non-title bout and was victimized by a hometown decision. Gavilan said after the bout:

"I think I beat him. I'll fight him again and really give him a licking next time."

The Cuban hawk with the spectacular bolo punch revealed that he would like a chance at the world's middleweight crown now held by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bratton, fighting one of the best battles of his spotty career, also thought he had won. The Chicago boy asserted:

"I thought I was ahead on points. I knew I was winning at the end and know I took the last round. Gavilan never hurt me at all."

Johnny probably was telling the truth as he saw it, but ringsiders believed Bratton was in trouble in the second round and again in the sixth when the champion belted him around the ring with lefts and rights to the head.

The Chicagoan, however did his share of the forcing and shook up Gavilan in the late rounds with hard right hooks to the body and head and stiff lefts to the head.

Judge John Bray gave the fight to Gavilan, 52 points to 48. Judge Frank McAdams gave each boy 50 points. Referee Bill Doty saw the bout 52 points for Bratton and 48 for Gavilan.

Boosters Offer Plaque For Top Marksmanship

Circleville high school basketball players will have a new goal to shoot for during the 1951-52 cage season.

Circleville Booster Clubbers, during a meeting Wednesday in the home of Dr. P. C. Routzahn, voted to award a plaque to this season's best free-throw shooter.

The Boosters said the special award will be made to the varsity player who connects for the highest percentage of his free-throw attempts this season.

Award of the special plaque will be made during the annual Booster Club banquet at the close of the basketball season, along with the "most valuable player" trophy award.

Another Lion's Club Mat Show Due Wednesday

Another star-studded Circleville Lions Club wrestling program is promised local grunt and groan fans here for next Wednesday night.

Headliners for the Lions Club All-Star mat program will be Professor Roy Shire in the main event contest against Johnny Demchuck.

The main event will be a two-out-of-three falls contest with a one-hour time limit.

Semifinal event for the evening will be a crowd-pleaser, a tag team match pitting Whitey Walberg and Chris Belkas against Ali Pasha and Al Tucker.

The tag team test will be a two-out-of-three falls event with a one-hour time limit.

* * *

OPENER FOR the evening will feature Johnnie Moskel vs. Tony Sinatra in a one-fall, 30-minute bout.

An extra highlight of the evening will be an appearance by Santa Claus, with free treats for everyone who attends. The December Lion's Club All-Star program will begin at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Circleville high school band will be on hand to give a brief concert.

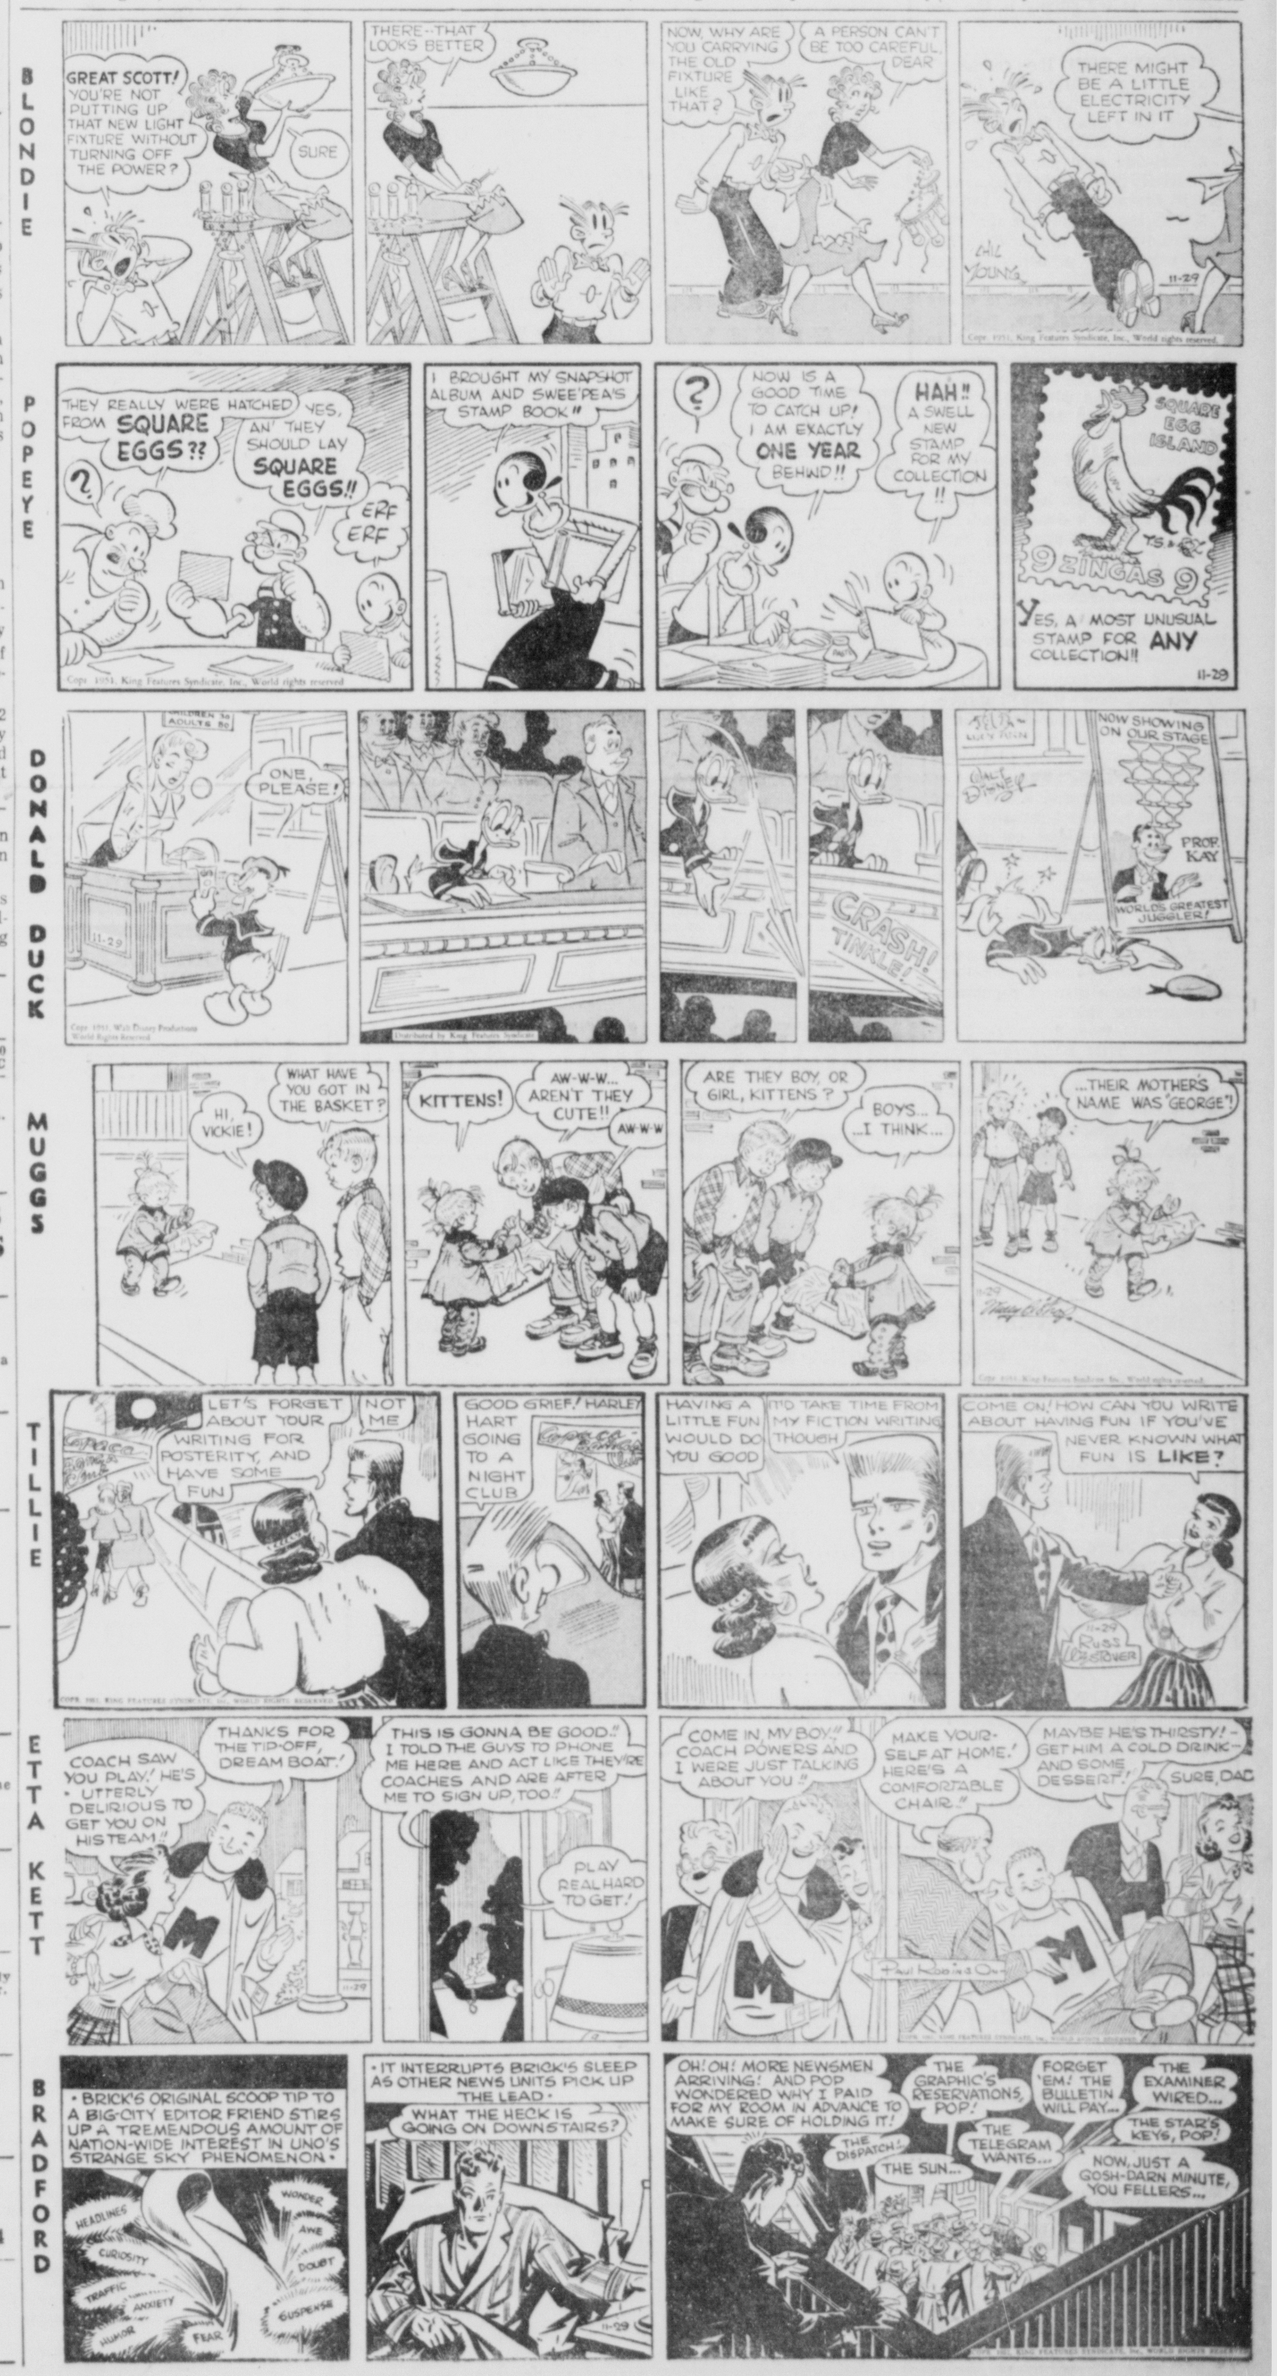

Big Boys Make INS All-Ohio Football Team

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29 — Colleges from all over the country are probably taking a second look at members of International News Service's speedy and rugged 1951 All-Ohio high school football team.

With a backfield that weighs an average of 194 pounds per man and a line averaging 195 pounds, the 1951 INS All-Ohio squad would give many a college team a stiff test.

The average height of the all-senior "fabulous eleven" is six feet, one inch. The first team is as follows:

Natural Gas Deliveries Increased 100 Percent Here

2,200 Feet Of New Pipe Installed

Old Customers Better Supplied

More than 2,200 feet of new mains have been laid in Circleville during the last year by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to increase its deliveries to this community by 100 percent.

Dan McClain, district manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., said the installation of the new mains, almost a half mile of pipe, has extended service to 300 new customers here.

In addition, the new mains have provided sufficient amounts of natural gas here to furnish 600 additional customers for house-heating.

The new mains were laid primarily for the betterment of service to the new additions surrounding the city, although the added volume brought in by the mains also guaranteed a better supply to the old customers.

* * *

McCLAIN SAID the company's new lines here will do three things:

1. Bolster the company's ability to deliver more gas to its old customers in every section of town;
2. Provide new gas service for an entirely new group of homeowners in the new additions; and
3. Lay the groundwork for later construction that means even further expansions of deliveries and service.

"In the postwar period of heavy demand for natural gas, that has been the pattern of expansion in the gas industry—deliver more gas to old customers and extend service to new ones while setting the stage for further improvements," McClain said.

"But the size of that expansion sometimes swamps the man-in-the-street. He gets lost in a flood of figures which detail hundreds of miles of new pipelines, millions of dollars in investments and billions of cubic feet of gas sent out in increased deliveries.

"That's why a summary of Ohio Fuel's operations and construction here may very well serve as the best and most understandable illustration of how those improvements are made step-by-step and year-by-year."

Gas is delivered in Circleville through a network arrangement of medium pressure mains. Regulator stations located on Lancaster Pike near the County Home control the flow of gas into Circleville and feed the medium pressure systems.

Medium pressure mains feed into district regulator stations located at strategic points throughout the city. Low pressure lines deliver gas from those district regulators to consumers' lines.

* * *

DURING THE LAST few years Ohio Fuel has strengthened its distribution system here by building up sections of its low pressure lines and making extensions on its medium pressure mains. Those improvements, which were made in almost every part of town, showed immediate results in bettering service. But they also paved the way for Ohio Fuel's present pipeline job.

Early this October a new regulator station was installed on East Ohio street to better serve customers of that section of the city.

"With the nation's known stock of gas the highest in history, many parts of the country are plagued with a gas shortage that isn't a shortage," McClain said.

"Under those circumstances, the man-in-the-street is confused. Home builders and contractors are irritated. Many of the gas companies are frustrated—they find they have to say "sorry, no more gas right now," to thousands of eager customers. And the whole problem has legislators and regulators reaching for the aspirin.

"Since 1946, as the postwar price increases of coal and oil became more pronounced, demands from homeowners, industrialists and other business men have literally produced a three-headed monster which gobbles up every available foot of gas and keeps up a constant craving for much more of the same.

"In Ohio particularly, those demands have been of the monstrous variety," McClain reported. "Ohio is fifth on the list of states according to population, but:

"1—Ohio gas companies have more customers using natural gas than any other state except California;

"2—More Ohio customers use gas for house-heating than those of all other states except Texas and California;

"3—Total gas deliveries in Ohio—to all types of consumers—are greater than in any state except Texas and California;

"4—Gas deliveries to Ohio's residential customers are topped only by those to California homes. Deliveries to Ohio homeowners exceed those to Texas residents, in spite of the fact that more Texas homes are heated with gas; and

"5—Gas deliveries to Ohio gas companies' commercial customers are greater than those in every other state except California. Commercial customers are those who use natural gas for non-industrial business purposes, according to the gas industry's classification.

Montezuma, king of the Aztecs at the time of the Spanish conquest of ancient Mexico, was the second of that name.

Old Customers Better Supplied

More than 2,200 feet of new mains have been laid in Circleville during the last year by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to increase its deliveries to this community by 100 percent.

Dan McClain, district manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., said the installation of the new mains, almost a half mile of pipe, has extended service to 300 new customers here.

In addition, the new mains have provided sufficient amounts of natural gas here to furnish 600 additional customers for house-heating.

The new mains were laid primarily for the betterment of service to the new additions surrounding the city, although the added volume brought in by the mains also guaranteed a better supply to the old customers.

McCLAIN SAID the company's new lines here will do three things:

1. Bolster the company's ability to deliver more gas to its old customers in every section of town;
2. Provide new gas service for an entirely new group of homeowners in the new additions; and
3. Lay the groundwork for later construction that means even further expansions of deliveries and service.

"In the postwar period of heavy demand for natural gas, that has been the pattern of expansion in the gas industry—deliver more gas to old customers and extend service to new ones while setting the stage for further improvements," McClain said.

"But the size of that expansion sometimes swamps the man-in-the-street. He gets lost in a flood of figures which detail hundreds of miles of new pipelines, millions of dollars in investments and billions of cubic feet of gas sent out in increased deliveries.

"That's why a summary of Ohio Fuel's operations and construction here may very well serve as the best and most understandable illustration of how those improvements are made step-by-step and year-by-year."

Gas is delivered in Circleville through a network arrangement of medium pressure mains. Regulator stations located on Lancaster Pike near the County Home control the flow of gas into Circleville and feed the medium pressure systems.

Medium pressure mains feed into district regulator stations located at strategic points throughout the city. Low pressure lines deliver gas from those district regulators to consumers' lines.

DURING THE LAST few years Ohio Fuel has strengthened its distribution system here by building up sections of its low pressure lines and making extensions on its medium pressure mains. Those improvements, which were made in almost every part of town, showed immediate results in bettering service. But they also paved the way for Ohio Fuel's present pipeline job.

Early this October a new regulator station was installed on East Ohio street to better serve customers of that section of the city.

"With the nation's known stock of gas the highest in history, many parts of the country are plagued with a gas shortage that isn't a shortage," McClain said.

"Under those circumstances, the man-in-the-street is confused. Home builders and contractors are irritated. Many of the gas companies are frustrated—they find they have to say "sorry, no more gas right now," to thousands of eager customers. And the whole problem has legislators and regulators reaching for the aspirin.

"Since 1946, as the postwar price increases of coal and oil became more pronounced, demands from homeowners, industrialists and other business men have literally produced a three-headed monster which gobbles up every available foot of gas and keeps up a constant craving for much more of the same.

"In Ohio particularly, those demands have been of the monstrous variety," McClain reported. "Ohio is fifth on the list of states according to population, but:

"1—Ohio gas companies have more customers using natural gas than any other state except California;

"2—More Ohio customers use gas for house-heating than those of all other states except Texas and California;

"3—Total gas deliveries in Ohio—to all types of consumers—are greater than in any state except Texas and California;

"4—Gas deliveries to Ohio's residential customers are topped only by those to California homes. Deliveries to Ohio homeowners exceed those to Texas residents, in spite of the fact that more Texas homes are heated with gas; and

"5—Gas deliveries to Ohio gas companies' commercial customers are greater than those in every other state except California. Commercial customers are those who use natural gas for non-industrial business purposes, according to the gas industry's classification.

Montezuma, king of the Aztecs at the time of the Spanish conquest of ancient Mexico, was the second of that name.
